Supervisors Vote To Appoint Area Welfare Officer

Mother of Year

Meet Mrs. Ethlyn Wisegarver Bott, 58, of Belleville, Ill., whose choice as Mother of the Year is unique in one respect — she's a step-mother. Mrs. Bott raised four motherless children after she married their widower father 20 years ago. She will be honored in New York May 8, when the American Mothers Committee presents her award. Mrs. Bott was selected over candidates from every state by the committee, a branch of the Golden Rule Foundation which works for dedication of American homes to the golden rule.

Board Takes Action Under 1953 Law —Ballot Is 17 to 3

By a vote of 17 to 3 the Ulster County Board of Supervisors Tuesday evening voted to make the office of County Commissioner of Public Works an appointive office rather than an elective office as it has been in the past.

The choice of filling the position of County Welfare Commissioner came to the Board of Supervisors under a law enacted at the last session of the legislature. That law, a permissive one, gives the board the right to decide whether to continue electing a commissioner at the general election or to allow the board of supervisors to appoint a commissioner.

The vote was taken at a session of the board attended by 20 supervisors, following a public hearing which was called to order at 8 p. m. by Chairman Roy F. Denniston. Prior to a vote by the board the law provided that a public hearing be held.

Nine Persons Heard

At the public hearing nine persons were heard by the board members, three speaking in opposition to the appointing of a commissioner and six favoring appointment.

Those in opposition to a change were heard first and under the rules of the meeting each speaker was permitted five minutes.

The appointive power of the board will become effective at the conclusion of the present term of Commissioner Edward Murray December 31.

On the vote whether to retain the elective policy or change to the appointive alternate as provided by the new law, three voted against appointment as follows; Supervisors George of Denning, Albrecht of the seventh ward and Carroll of the tenth ward. Seventeen voted in favor of the resolution for appointment.

Majestic First Speaker

George Majestic of the town of Gardiner, speaking for the Civic Association of the township, which he said represented some 70 members, was the first speaker. He said he believed in government "of the people, by the people and for the people" and to abandon the principles of Jefferson and Lincoln was to weaken government. He said appointment to office led to dictatorship. He asked whether the board felt the voters were not able or intelligent enough to elect the right man and said the constitution of the United States and the state provided for elections by the people and he said it was his opinion that what was good enough for the country and state was good enough for the county. He said he, and the group he represented felt the selection of a commissioner of public welfare should remain in the hands of the voters.

Opposes Amendment

Julius S. McClain, of the town of Gardiner, who said he had been in politics in Westchester county, and had been engaged in social welfare work for 30 years opposed the appointment. A resident of Ulster county for 20 years, he said he held grave concern about the bill which was presented at the last session of the Legislature and which makes possible the appointment of welfare commissioner. He said he had once heard a candidate for the office state at a meeting in New Paltz that his chief qualification for the office had been operation of a large diner and the pur-

House Unit Opens Inquiry to Check Mail Fraud Case

Purpose Is to Determine Whether Clark Was 'Induced' to Drop It

Washington, April 29 (AP)—House investigators started a public inquiry today to learn whether the Justice Department under former Atty. Gen. Tom Clark "was improperly induced" to drop a big mail fraud case.

Clark is now a Supreme Court Justice.

Rep. Keating (R.-N. Y.), chairman of a House judiciary subcommittee investigating the Justice Department, said Clark approved "abrupt dismissal" of the case in June, 1946.

Former Atty. Gen. James P. McGranery, who stepped out with the Truman Administration last January, turned the case over to the subcommittee last year and called it "one of the biggest mail fraud cases" in history.

Puzzled, Is Report

In a statement prepared for the opening of hearings, Keating said McGranery's "rather startling comment . . . fairly implies that Atty. Gen. McGranery was at least puzzled over this episode in the regime of one of his predecessors."

Clark could not immediately be reached for comment.

Keating gave this account of the case:

Roy E. Crummer, Topeka, Kas., bond dealer, and 10 associates were indicted in August, 1944, on charges of using the mails to defraud bondholders of Citrus county, Fla., and Panama City, Fla.

The indictment was quashed on technical grounds by a federal district judge but was reinstated by the Circuit Court of Appeals, whose position was upheld by the Supreme Court.

Keating continued:

"Then Crummer changed his tactics. He engaged prominent attorneys and took his case straight to the top officials in the (Justice) department. A series of conferences were initiated, one with the attorney general himself (Clark) and several with Asst. Atty. Gen. (T. Lamar) Caudle."

Order Approved

Keating said Caudle then authorized and Clark approved an order to dismiss the case. Caudle was later fired by former President Truman.

Keating said "the issue is whether or not the government was improperly induced to abandon irrevocably its day in court."

Keating said it is too late to prosecute Crummer and that care will be taken during the hearings to avoid trying him. Crummer has said he is innocent of the charges in the indictment and that actually his actions benefited the bondholders.

Double Amputee Says 800 Wounded Yanks Murdered

Men Sprayed With Burp Guns and Knifed With Bayonets, Tully Cox Declares

Tokyo, April 29 (AP)—A repatriated American soldier today said Chinese troops ruthlessly sprayed 40 truckloads of wounded U. S. soldiers with burp guns, killing most of the nearly 800 helpless, screaming men.

Then the Reds bayoneted many of the survivors, Pfc. Tully Cox, 20, of Altoona, Ala., told newsmen in Tokyo Army Hospital.

Cox, a double amputee, was asked if he considered the mass machine gunning premeditated murder.

"That is what you'd call it," he said quietly.

Cox was with the 32nd Regiment of the Seventh Division during a retreat through hordes of Chinese Reds on Dec. 2, 1950. He was one of about 20 men guarding the 40-truck convoy of wounded.

"There were about 20 wounded to each truck. We were trying to get them out to Hamhung, where the evacuation fleet was waiting," he said.

The convoy ran into a Chinese road block and was overwhelmed. Cox was wounded.

"Then the Chinese climbed up on the trucks and sprayed burp guns into the wounded. Then they bayoneted them. The wounded were screaming. They couldn't do anything."

Forced to Gaze at Sun

Tokyo, April 29 (AP)—An American soldier freed last week by the Communists said today the Reds forced him to stare wide-eyed at the sun for two hours as punishment for being sarcastic during questioning.

"I couldn't see for three days," Cpl. Pedro A. Herrera of La Madera, N. M., said.

Herrera said a Chinese guard hit him in the forehead with a bayonet for talking back when the guard cursed him.

ROKs Say Commies Use Camps as Dumps

Panmunjom, April 29 (AP) — South Korean soldiers freed by the Communists charged today the Reds are using marked prison camps in North Korea as military supply dumps.

South Korean medics who treat the repatriates said the story came out because some of the men had recent wounds although they had been captives two years.

The medics said the prisoners told them they had been moved to unmarked camps while their former stocked—still plainly marked—was converted into a supply dump. The prisoners said they were wounded when allied planes strafed and bombed the unmarked camp.

McCarthy to Give Wechsler's Data

Senator Says Statements Affect Freedom of U. S. Press

Washington, April 29 (AP)—Sen. McCarthy (R.-Wis.) said today he will make public the testimony New York Post Editor James Wechsler gave at a stormy closed-door hearing Friday before the Senate Investigations Subcommittee.

Wechsler has demanded its publication so he can ask the American Society of Newspaper Editors to study it. He contends "serious issues affecting freedom of the press" were involved. He assailed the hearing as "a fishing expedition."

McCarthy told a reporter today he already has received permission from the subcommittee which he heads to release the transcript, but that he intends first to let Wechsler come to Washington to make any last minute corrections of errors which may have crept into the record.

"I think it is important, too, that this transcript should be made public," McCarthy said.

Final Vote Is Due Tuesday on Oil Rights Bill for States

Washington, April 29 (AP) — Republican Senate leader Taft of Ohio won a victory for the Eisenhower legislative program by breaking what he called a "filibulldozer" against legislation for state ownership of oil-rich submerged lands.

Many Democrats supported the tactics Taft used to bring agreement on a final vote by 2 p. m. next Tuesday. The date was set yesterday, during the 20th day of debate, and almost immediately the Senate reverted to its normal placid course.

The agreement means that — barring unforeseen developments — the Senate will pass on the agreed day a bill to establish states' title to offshore submerged lands within their historic boundaries. A somewhat similar measure has passed the House.

Sen. Monroney (D.-Okla.), was scheduled to speak when the session convened today, discussing his amendment to limit state seaward boundaries to three miles and apply federal offshore oil revenues to the national debt.

Strikes at States

The amendment would strike directly at Texas and Florida. The pending bill recognizes their claims to three leagues — 10½ miles—in the Gulf of Mexico.

An almost identical amendment by Sen. Douglas (D.-Ill.) was defeated 58-26 late yesterday. The principal difference was that Douglas would have dedicated federal revenues to educational purposes.

Eisenhower endorsed the principle of state ownership during last year's presidential campaign while his Democratic opponent, former Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson of Illinois opposed it. Last Friday Eisenhower called for early passage of the measure.

Taft's determination in ordering around-the-clock sessions of the Senate, backed by other Republican chiefs, was given primary credit in breaking up talk that had occupied Senate sessions for 20 days. Cots were ordered out from the recesses of the Capitol for members to relax but still be on hand for quorum calls.

Calls Off 'Techniques'

Faced with this situation and a dwindling number of speakers, Sen. Anderson (D-NM) called off what Sen. Morse (Ind-Ore.) had described as "filibuster techniques" and opponents agreed to the final vote. They had agreed all along their talks was not a true filibuster, because they did not intend to prevent an eventual vote.

Anderson told the Senate opponents of the bill felt they had succeeded in the objective "to forewarn the American people on the things that are bad in this legislation."

Taft, who had called the lengthy speeches "an honest-to-God filibuster," said in an interview he regarded the outcome as demonstrating the Senate leadership can break most filibusters if it is determined to keep the members in session.

But he added that the filibuster in this case wasn't as intense as some past ones.

Sailing Is Canceled

Le Havre, France, April 29 (AP)—A general strike of French Line officers canceled the scheduled sailing for America today of the Ile de France, stranding 555 passengers booked from here and another 165 at Southampton. French Line officials were trying to arrange berths for them aboard the Queen Elizabeth, sailing for New York tomorrow.

Army Man Tells Investigators 'Shape Up' System Basic Evil

Washington, April 29 (AP)—Senate investigators had advice before them today that union "shape up" hiring is the basic cause of New Jersey waterfront labor troubles.

Col. Charles T. Tench, army engineer formerly responsible for Claremont terminal at Jersey City, told the Senate Commerce subcommittee investigating waterfront racketeering that the best way to clear things up would be to get rid of this method of hiring.

Under the "shape up" system, union supervisors pick from among those who turn up in the morning the men who will work that day.

"As long as the union can say who will work, rather than the operators, the troubles will continue," Tench said.

Tench drew an angry rebuke from chairman Tobey (R.-N.H.), however, for failing to discharge men with criminal records.

"It's about time we find out who is running this country—whether it's the army, the government or labor unions, when they let crooks come on the job and let them stay there," the senator declared.

The subcommittee has been told that Jersy City politicians and union infiltrated by gangsters interfered with a job of crating materials for overseas airbases. The testimony came from officials of Dade Bros., Inc., which had the contract.

Tench said that in March, 1952, he decided against moves toward firing men with criminal records because of moral and legal doubts, and fear that a strike would hinder the building of bases deemed vital to the nation's defense.

He couldn't say that criminals on the payroll hurt actual operations, he added in response to a question from subcommittee counsel Downey Rice.

The colonel former district engineer for the Army Engineers Corps at New York, is now district engineer at New Orleans.

The Senate group planned to resume hearings today.

President, Aides Agree On Big Fund

More Than 5½ Billions to Be Spent Abroad at Security Council Suggestion

Washington, April 29 (AP)—The Eisenhower administration is reported drafting a foreign aid budget calling for about $5,800,000,000 in new money from Congress for the next fiscal year. Former President Truman had suggested at least $7,600,000,000.

Officials who disclosed this to a reporter today said the National Security Council tentatively approved a program of this size at a White House meeting yesterday.

A few hours earlier, these same officials had said the figure would be between $6,100,000,000 and $6,300,000,000 but that the specific amount was yet to be determined. The officials asked not to be identified by name.

In conferences which lasted late into last night, the amount apparently was scaled down to around $5,800,000,000. Foreign Aid Director Harold Stassen apparently lost a last-ditch battle in favor of the bigger amounts because of the administration's determination to economize in foreign aid spending.

Special Request

The White House is drafting a special request to be sent to Congress within a week. The final figure will be inserted within the next few days after final conferences among top Defense, State Department and military aid chiefs.

Without reference to these specific figures, Sen. Bridges (R.-N. H.) said today foreign aid spending must bear a "proportionate" share in budget cuts. He indicated that figure might be from 2 to 2½ billion dollars under the $7,600,000,000 which former President Truman said in his farewell budget was the minimum amount Congress should appropriate to guarantee western security against communism.

Even a foreign aid program of $6,100,000,000—1½ billions under that — would represent considerably more than top Republican planners thought was needed a week ago, Key officials then said they believed the sum could be held to about $5,600,000,000. The amount voted for the present year was about six billions.

Convinced of Need

Intensive review of world conditions in the past week, officials said, convinced Eisenhower and his aides of a need for a bigger sum.

Harold E. Stassen, the Mutual Security administrator, appeared yesterday at a closed session of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, and Chairman Wiley (R.-Wis.) indicated afterwards that the administration would recommend that less than two billions be cut off the Truman recommendation.

Bridges, who heads the Senate Appropriations Committee, said he won't be satisfied if that happens.

"If we are to balance the budget —as we can and will do—then foreign aid spending must bear a definite proportion of the cut," the senator said. "It would appear to me that would be in the neighborhood of from two to 2½ billion."

Stassen told the Senate committee his agency will produce concrete figures by next Tuesday.

Erica Goes Free

New York, April 29 (AP)—Erica Steel, 28, a prosecution witness in the vice case against Minot F. Jelke, oleomargarine heir, walked out of court a free woman today. She received a sentence of one year in the penitentiary on her plea of guilty to maintaining a public nuisance, but it was suspended pending her good behavior. Presiding Justice Irwin Davidson in Special Sessions Court told the red-haired, deeply-tanned defendant that the sentence was suspended on recommendation of the state because of her cooperation in the Jelke case. Two other charges against Miss Steel were dismissed yesterday. One accused her of loitering for the purpose of prostitution. The other involved alleged possession of marijuana cigarettes. Miss Steel said she was going to get out of New York, and her attorney, Noah Braunstein, said she planned to be married.

Hospital Plane Flies 35 Men From Hawaii

Gala Welcome Is Accorded Americans Returning From Prison Camps

Honolulu, April 29 (AP)—A big hospital plane carrying 35 excited American fighting men freed from Communist prison camps only a week ago left today on the last Pacific lap of a flight home.

The plane was airborne at 12:12 a. m. (5:12 a. m., EST). It is due at Travis Air Force Base, 30 miles northeast of San Francisco about 1 p. m. Pacific Daylight Time (3 p. m., EST).

In contrast the gala welcome when the men arrived yesterday, their departure was virtually unnoticed.

Two reporters and a handful of photographers saw them off.

The men remained aboard army ambulances and buses for more than an hour while agriculture inspectors gave their giant stratocruiser plane a last minute spraying.

An air force spokesman said all of the 35 have temporary orders assigning them to Travis. Soon after their arrival new orders will send men who are well enough directly to their homes. Those who need further hospital care will be sent to hospitals near their homes if possible.

Eight of the 35 are litter patients.

The C-97 stratocruiser which brought the men here from Tokyo landed at 1:13 p. m. Tuesday (6:13 p. m., EST). Some were taken to Tripler General Hospital for a checkup and rest.

An army spokesman said the

India Seen As Possible Nam Choice

Prime Minister Nehru, However, Might Not Agree — Compromise Forecast

Munsan, April 29 (AP)—Communist truce negotiators suggested today that 50,000 allied-held war prisoners who do not want to go home be sent to an unnamed neutral nation in Asia. The Reds also agreed to bargain on the time needed to determine their future.

"I think we made some progress," said Lt. Gen. William K. Harrison, chief UN negotiator. "At least they are not adamant on the time prisoners are to be held in custody."

While the Communists did not name a neutral, there were unofficial reports the Reds would nominate India. Observers predicted UN negotiators would agree. The Communists have rejected Switzerland as a neutral.

When the nomination of India first was mentioned unofficially nearly a month ago, official Indian quarters said they were sure Prime Minister Nehru would refuse because of the past history of bitter violence in Korea prison camps.

Three Points in Dispute

At the end of a 64-minute session at Panmunjom the three major points of dispute appeared to shape up like this:

1. The Communists indicated they were ready to bargain on the length of time needed to decide the disposition of prisoners refusing to go home.

2. There appeared to be room for compromise on the Communist nomination of an Asian country—as yet unnamed—as the neutral nation and the allied nomination of Switzerland.

3. The Communists showed no sign of backing down on their insistence that unwilling prisoners be shipped to the neutral power. The allies were equally firm in their demand that the prisoners be kept in Korea while their fate is decided.

Compromise Suggested

On the last point, a possible compromise was a suggestion to ship Chinese prisoners to the neutral nation and to kep the Korean prisoners in Korea.

North Korean Gen. Nam Il said "we are prepared to nominate an Asian neutral nation for the purpose of putting under its custody those prisoners of war not directly repatriated and hold consultation with your side about this matter."

Nam added:

"With regard of when to send the neutral nation those prisoners of war not directly repatriated and how long they should stay, our side originally proposed that they be sent to the neutral nation within one month after the completion of direct repatriation and that the side concerned make explanations to them within the period of six months after their arrival there.

Subject of Discussion

"But since your side feels that the time involved is too long, we consider that although an appropriate length of time is entirely necessary, the specific length of time, however, can be a subject of discussion."

Harrison replied it might be necessary to use force to get some prisoners to go to a neutral country and "the Geneva convention bans the use of force. We can't do that.

"Our side cannot apply force to transport prisoners to a neutral country any more than we can apply force to repatriate them to your side."

Harrison told correspondents the actual time the unwilling prisoners would be in custody was not as important as the fact that their ultimate disposition, under the Communist proposal, would be delegated to a political conference.

No Real Solution

"There's no real solution to the problem if it ever gets to a political conference," Harrison said, because the prisoners then would have to accept repatriation or continue indefinitely in captivity.

The official Allied spokesman, Col. Milton B. Herr, declined to comment when asked whether India was acceptable to the United Nations command as the neutral power. He also had no comment to the same query regarding Burma or Pakistan.

Meanwhile, the UN command returned to the Communists Wednesday another 500 sick and wounded North Korean prisoners. It said 500 more would be returned Thursday. The Communists completed the return of 684 sick and wounded UN prisoners Saturday.

Red Nations Gird For War Behind 'Peace Offensive'

U. S. to Have 13,000 Tanks by Summer

Washington, April 29 (AP)—The United States will have on hand by the start of this summer about 13,000 medium tanks, still far short of the estimated 40,000 of all types generally credited to Russia.

The American figure does not include light or heavy tanks which the U. S. Army also has.

But, an army spokesman said today, there is no intention or desire to match Soviet armor, tank for tank, any more than there is attempt to match the huge Russian-satellite force man-for-man.

Several factors are involved in this planning. If a war should start tomorrow, the spokesman said, "current tooled-up production lines could be accelerated to keep us supplied in quantity with superior tanks."

Moreover, army tacticians do not subscribe to the theory the only way to beat an enemy tank is with another tank. The spokesman said that "under certain circumstances, it is true that the best—and, incidentally, the most expensive—way to fight a tank is with another tank."

Other Tank Weapons

But the army also relies on other anti-tank weapons, including the recoilless rifle with its "shaped" charged for penetrating tank armor by a burning action, and the familiar bazooka and rifle grenade launcher for close-in fighting.

Another apparent factor, unmentioned by the army spokesman, is that the 13,000 tank figure shown in Defense Department information, consists only of medium gun tanks. It does not include either the new light tanks, which have been in volume production for well over a year, or heavy tanks just going into production. The 40,000 estimate for the USSR is presumed to include all categories of tanks, including obsolete ones.

Vienna, April 29 (AP) — Any "peace offensive" now underway in East Europe is being accompanied by signs of bigger war preparation than ever behind the iron curtain.

Rather than indications of peaceful intentions, western diplomats on duty in the Soviet bloc countries report there are many signs of a deliberate intensification of military effort.

Amendments to rent regulations were announced today, decontrolling 16 towns in Ulster county, by the Temporary State Housing Rent Commission, 280 Broadway, New York.

According to the press release the towns affected as of April 30 are: Denning, Esopus, Gardiner, Hurley, Hardenburg, Marbletown, Olive, New Paltz, Plattekill, Rochester, Rosendale, Shandaken, Ulster, Shawangunk, Wawarsing and Woodstock.

Joseph D. McGoldrick, state rent administrator, explained that this action was based on the public hearing held in Newburgh to which tenants and landlords had been invited to express their opinions on the proposal that the villages be decontrolled because control was no longer required.

The report from the rent commission said there was a very small attendance at the meeting on April 4.

It was the second French reverse in the area announced in as many days. Yesterday the French reported the loss of Pakseng, 42 miles northeast of Luangprabang.

Casualties among the attackers and the defenders were not revealed.

Though the Vietminh still had not launched a direct attack on Luangprabang, the Communist leaders appeared to be throwing more and more of their best fighting men into the Laos invasion. Apparently they sought to overrun the little mountain kingdom—90,000 square miles in area—before the heavy seasonal rains start in the next month or two.

Already they claimed control of one-third to one-half of Laos which is one of Indochina's three states, and a neighbor of independent, anti-Communist Thailand.

House Unit Opens Inquiry to Check Mail Fraud Case

Purpose Is to Determine Whether Clark Was 'Induced' to Drop It

Washington, April 29 (AP)—House investigators started a public inquiry today to learn whether the Justice Department under former Atty. Gen. Tom Clark "was improperly induced" to drop a big mail fraud case.

Clark is now a Supreme Court Justice.

Rep. Keating (R.-N. Y.), chairman of a House judiciary subcommittee investigating the Justice Department, said Clark approved "abrupt dismissal" of the case in June, 1946.

Former Atty. Gen. James P. McGranery, who stepped out with the Truman Administration last January, turned the case over to the subcommittee last year and called it "one of the biggest mail fraud cases" in history.

Puzzled, Is Report

In a statement prepared for the opening of hearings, Keating said McGranery's "rather startling comment . . . fairly implies that Atty. Gen. McGranery was at least puzzled over this episode in the regime of one of his predecessors."

Clark could not immediately be reached for comment.

Keating gave this account of the case:

Roy E. Crummer, Topeka, Kas., bond dealer, and 10 associates were indicted in August, 1944, on charges of using the mails to defraud bondholders of Citrus county, Fla., and Panama City, Fla.

The indictment was quashed on technical grounds by a federal district judge but was reinstated by the Circuit Court of Appeals, whose position was upheld by the Supreme Court.

Keating continued:

"Then Crummer changed his tactics. He engaged prominent attorneys and took his case straight to the top officials in the (Justice) department. A series of conferences were initiated, one with the attorney general himself (Clark) and several with Asst. Atty. Gen. (T. Lamar) Caudle."

Double Amputee Says 800 Wounded Yanks Murdered

Men Sprayed With Burp Guns and Knifed With Bayonets, Tully Cox Declares

Tokyo, April 29 (AP)—A repatriated American soldier today said Chinese troops ruthlessly sprayed 40 truckloads of wounded U. S. soldiers with burp guns, killing most of the nearly 800 helpless, screaming men.

Then the Reds bayoneted many of the survivors, Pfc. Tully Cox, 20, of Altoona, Ala., told newsmen in Tokyo Army Hospital.

Cox, a double amputee, was asked if he considered the mass machine gunning premeditated murder.

"That is what you'd call it," he said quietly.

Cox was with the 32nd Regiment of the Seventh Division during a retreat through hordes of Chinese Reds on Dec. 2, 1950. He was one of about 20 men guarding the 40-truck convoy of wounded.

"There were about 20 wounded to each truck. We were trying to get them out to Hamhung, where the evacuation fleet was waiting," he said.

The convoy ran into a Chinese road block and was overwhelmed. Cox was wounded.

"Then the Chinese climbed up on the trucks and sprayed burp guns into the wounded. Then they bayoneted them. The wounded were screaming. They couldn't do anything."

Forced to Gaze at Sun

Tokyo, April 29 (AP)—An American soldier freed last week by the Communists said today the Reds forced him to stare wide-eyed at the sun for two hours as punishment for being sarcastic during questioning.

"I couldn't see for three days," Cpl. Pedro A. Herrera of La Madera, N. M., said.

Herrera said a Chinese guard hit him in the forehead with a bayonet for talking back when the guard cursed him.

Taft Wins GOP Victory By Breaking Filibuster

Final Vote Is Due Tuesday on Oil Rights Bill for States

Washington, April 29 (AP) — Republican Senate leader Taft of Ohio won a victory for the Eisenhower legislative program by breaking what he called a "filibulldozer" against legislation for state ownership of oil-rich submerged lands.

Many Democrats supported the tactics Taft used to bring agreement on a final vote by 2 p. m. next Tuesday. The date was set yesterday, during the 20th day of debate, and almost immediately the Senate reverted to its normal placid course.

The agreement means that — barring unforeseen developments — the Senate will pass on the agreed day a bill to establish states' title to offshore submerged lands within their historic boundaries. A somewhat similar measure has passed the House.

Sen. Monroney (D.-Okla.), was scheduled to speak when the session convened today, discussing his amendment to limit state seaward boundaries to three miles and apply federal offshore oil revenues to the national debt.

Strikes at States

The amendment would strike directly at Texas and Florida. The pending bill recognizes their claims to three leagues — 10½ miles—in the Gulf of Mexico.

An almost identical amendment by Sen. Douglas (D.-Ill.) was defeated 58-26 late yesterday. The principal difference was that Douglas would have dedicated federal revenues to educational purposes.

Eisenhower endorsed the principle of state ownership during last year's presidential campaign while his Democratic opponent, former Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson of Illinois opposed it. Last Friday Eisenhower called for early passage of the measure.

Taft's determination in ordering around-the-clock sessions of the Senate, backed by other Republican chiefs, was given primary credit in breaking up talk that had occupied Senate sessions for 20 days. Cots were ordered out from the recesses of the Capitol for members to relax but still be on hand for quorum calls.

Calls Off 'Techniques'

Faced with this situation and a dwindling number of speakers, Sen. Anderson (D-NM) called off what Sen. Morse (Ind-Ore.) had described as "filibuster techniques" and opponents agreed to the final vote. They had agreed all along their talks was not a true filibuster, because they did not intend to prevent an eventual vote.

Anderson told the Senate opponents of the bill felt they had succeeded in the objective "to forewarn the American people on the things that are bad in this legislation."

Taft, who had called the lengthy speeches "an honest-to-God filibuster," said in an interview he regarded the outcome as demonstrating the Senate leadership can break most filibusters if it is determined to keep the members in session.

But he added that the filibuster in this case wasn't as intense as some past ones.

Sailing Is Canceled

Le Havre, France, April 29 (AP)—A general strike of French Line officers canceled the scheduled sailing for America today of the Ile de France, stranding 555 passengers booked from here and another 165 at Southampton. French Line officials were trying to arrange berths for them aboard the Queen Elizabeth, sailing for New York tomorrow.

ROKs Say Commies Use Camps as Dumps

Panmunjom, April 29 (AP) — South Korean soldiers freed by the Communists charged today the Reds are using marked prison camps in North Korea as military supply dumps.

South Korean medics who treat the repatriates said the story came out because some of the men had recent wounds although they had been captives two years.

The medics said the prisoners told them they had been moved to unmarked camps while their former stocked—still plainly marked—was converted into a supply dump. The prisoners said they were wounded when allied planes strafed and bombed the unmarked camp.

McCarthy to Give Wechsler's Data

Senator Says Statements Affect Freedom of U. S. Press

Washington, April 29 (AP)—Sen. McCarthy (R.-Wis.) said today he will make public the testimony New York Post Editor James Wechsler gave at a stormy closed-door hearing Friday before the Senate Investigations Subcommittee.

Wechsler has demanded its publication so he can ask the American Society of Newspaper Editors to study it. He contends "serious issues affecting freedom of the press" were involved. He assailed the hearing as "a fishing expedition."

McCarthy told a reporter today he already has received permission from the subcommittee which he heads to release the transcript, but that he intends first to let Wechsler come to Washington to make any last minute corrections of errors which may have crept into the record.

"I think it is important, too, that this transcript should be made public," McCarthy said.

Wechsler, who has admitted

Army Man Tells Investigators 'Shape Up' System Basic Evil

Washington, April 29 (AP)—Senate investigators had advice before them today that union "shape up" hiring is the basic cause of New Jersey waterfront labor troubles.

Col. Charles T. Tench, army engineer formerly responsible for Claremont terminal at Jersey City, told the Senate Commerce subcommittee investigating waterfront racketeering that the best way to clear things up would be to get rid of this method of hiring.

Under the "shape up" system, union supervisors pick from among those who turn up in the morning the men who will work that day.

"As long as the union can say who will work, rather than the operators, the troubles will continue," Tench said.

Tench drew an angry rebuke from chairman Tobey (R.-N.H.), however, for failing to discharge men with criminal records.

"It's about time we find out who is running this country—whether it's the army, the government or labor unions, when they let crooks come on the job and let them stay there," the senator declared.

The subcommittee has been told that Jersy City politicians and union infiltrated by gangsters interfered with a job of crating materials for overseas airbases. The testimony came from officials of Dade Bros., Inc., which had the contract.

Tench said that in March, 1952, he decided against moves toward firing men with criminal records because of moral and legal doubts, and fear that a strike would hinder the building of bases deemed vital to the nation's defense.

He couldn't say that criminals on the payroll hurt actual operations, he added in response to a question from subcommittee counsel Downey Rice.

The colonel former district engineer for the Army Engineers Corps at New York, is now district engineer at New Orleans.

The Senate group planned to resume hearings today.

President, Aides Agree On Big Fund

More Than 5½ Billions to Be Spent Abroad at Security Council Suggestion

Washington, April 29 (AP)—The Eisenhower administration is reported drafting a foreign aid budget calling for about $5,800,000,000 in new money from Congress for the next fiscal year. Former President Truman had suggested at least $7,600,000,000.

Officials who disclosed this to a reporter today said the National Security Council tentatively approved a program of this size at a White House meeting yesterday.

A few hours earlier, these same officials had said the figure would be between $6,100,000,000 and $6,300,000,000 but that the specific amount was yet to be determined. The officials asked not to be identified by name.

In conferences which lasted late into last night, the amount apparently was scaled down to around $5,800,000,000. Foreign Aid Director Harold Stassen apparently lost a last-ditch battle in favor of the bigger amounts because of the administration's determination to economize in foreign aid spending.

Special Request

The White House is drafting a special request to be sent to Congress within a week. The final figure will be inserted within the next few days after final conferences among top Defense, State Department and military aid chiefs.

Without reference to these specific figures, Sen. Bridges (R.-N. H.) said today foreign aid spending must bear a "proportionate" share in budget cuts. He indicated that figure might be from 2 to 2½ billion dollars under the $7,600,000,000 which former President Truman said in his farewell budget was the minimum amount Congress should appropriate to guarantee western security against communism.

Even a foreign aid program of $6,100,000,000—1½ billions under that — would represent considerably more than top Republican planners thought was needed a week ago, Key officials then said they believed the sum could be held to about $5,600,000,000. The amount voted for the present year was about six billions.

Convinced of Need

Intensive review of world conditions in the past week, officials said, convinced Eisenhower and his aides of a need for a bigger sum.

Harold E. Stassen, the Mutual Security administrator, appeared yesterday at a closed session of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, and Chairman Wiley (R.-Wis.) indicated afterwards that the administration would recommend that less than two billions be cut off the Truman recommendation.

Bridges, who heads the Senate Appropriations Committee, said he won't be satisfied if that happens.

"If we are to balance the budget —as we can and will do—then foreign aid spending must bear a definite proportion of the cut," the senator said. "It would appear to me that would be in the neighborhood of from two to 2½ billion."

Stassen told the Senate committee his agency will produce concrete figures by next Tuesday.

Erica Goes Free

New York, April 29 (AP)—Erica Steel, 28, a prosecution witness in the vice case against Minot F. Jelke, oleomargarine heir, walked out of court a free woman today. She received a sentence of one year in the penitentiary on her plea of guilty to maintaining a public nuisance, but it was suspended pending her good behavior. Presiding Justice Irwin Davidson in Special Sessions Court told the red-haired, deeply-tanned defendant that the sentence was suspended on recommendation of the state because of her cooperation in the Jelke case. Two other charges against Miss Steel were dismissed yesterday. One accused her of loitering for the purpose of prostitution. The other involved alleged possession of marijuana cigarettes. Miss Steel said she was going to get out of New York, and her attorney, Noah Braunstein, said she planned to be married.

Hospital Plane Flies 35 Men From Hawaii

Gala Welcome Is Accorded Americans Returning From Prison Camps

Honolulu, April 29 (AP)—A big hospital plane carrying 35 excited American fighting men freed from Communist prison camps only a week ago left today on the last Pacific lap of a flight home.

The plane was airborne at 12:12 a. m. (5:12 a. m., EST). It is due at Travis Air Force Base, 30 miles northeast of San Francisco about 1 p. m. Pacific Daylight Time (3 p. m., EST).

In contrast the gala welcome when the men arrived yesterday, their departure was virtually unnoticed.

Two reporters and a handful of photographers saw them off.

The men remained aboard army ambulances and buses for more than an hour while agriculture inspectors gave their giant stratocruiser plane a last minute spraying.

An air force spokesman said all of the 35 have temporary orders assigning them to Travis. Soon after their arrival new orders will send men who are well enough directly to their homes. Those who need further hospital care will be sent to hospitals near their homes if possible.

Eight of the 35 are litter patients.

The C-97 stratocruiser which brought the men here from Tokyo landed at 1:13 p. m. Tuesday (6:13 p. m., EST). Some were taken to Tripler General Hospital for a checkup and rest.

An army spokesman said the

India Seen As Possible Nam Choice

Prime Minister Nehru, However, Might Not Agree — Compromise Forecast

Munsan, April 29 (AP)—Communist truce negotiators suggested today that 50,000 allied-held war prisoners who do not want to go home be sent to an unnamed neutral nation in Asia. The Reds also agreed to bargain on the time needed to determine their future.

"I think we made some progress," said Lt. Gen. William K. Harrison, chief UN negotiator. "At least they are not adamant on the time prisoners are to be held in custody."

While the Communists did not name a neutral, there were unofficial reports the Reds would nominate India. Observers predicted UN negotiators would agree. The Communists have rejected Switzerland as a neutral.

When the nomination of India first was mentioned unofficially nearly a month ago, official Indian quarters said they were sure Prime Minister Nehru would refuse because of the past history of bitter violence in Korea prison camps.

Three Points in Dispute

At the end of a 64-minute session at Panmunjom the three major points of dispute appeared to shape up like this:

1. The Communists indicated they were ready to bargain on the length of time needed to decide the disposition of prisoners refusing to go home.

2. There appeared to be room for compromise on the Communist nomination of an Asian country—as yet unnamed—as the neutral nation and the allied nomination of Switzerland.

3. The Communists showed no sign of backing down on their insistence that unwilling prisoners be shipped to the neutral power. The allies were equally firm in their demand that the prisoners be kept in Korea while their fate is decided.

Compromise Suggested

On the last point, a possible compromise was a suggestion to ship Chinese prisoners to the neutral nation and to kep the Korean prisoners in Korea.

North Korean Gen. Nam Il said "we are prepared to nominate an Asian neutral nation for the purpose of putting under its custody those prisoners of war not directly repatriated and hold consultation with your side about this matter."

Nam added:

"With regard of when to send the neutral nation those prisoners of war not directly repatriated and how long they should stay, our side originally proposed that they be sent to the neutral nation within one month after the completion of direct repatriation and that the side concerned make explanations to them within the period of six months after their arrival there.

Subject of Discussion

"But since your side feels that the time involved is too long, we consider that although an appropriate length of time is entirely necessary, the specific length of time, however, can be a subject of discussion."

Harrison replied it might be necessary to use force to get some prisoners to go to a neutral country and "the Geneva convention bans the use of force. We can't do that.

"Our side cannot apply force to transport prisoners to a neutral country any more than we can apply force to repatriate them to your side."

Harrison told correspondents the actual time the unwilling prisoners would be in custody was not as important as the fact that their ultimate disposition, under the Communist proposal, would be delegated to a political conference.

No Real Solution

"There's no real solution to the problem if it ever gets to a political conference," Harrison said, because the prisoners then would have to accept repatriation or continue indefinitely in captivity.

The official Allied spokesman, Col. Milton B. Herr, declined to comment when asked whether India was acceptable to the United Nations command as the neutral power. He also had no comment to the same query regarding Burma or Pakistan.

Meanwhile, the UN command returned to the Communists Wednesday another 500 sick and wounded North Korean prisoners. It said 500 more would be returned Thursday. The Communists completed the return of 684 sick and wounded UN prisoners Saturday.

Red Nations Gird For War Behind 'Peace Offensive'

Washington, April 29 (AP)—The United States will have on hand by the start of this summer about 13,000 medium tanks, still far short of the estimated 40,000 of all types generally credited to Russia.

The American figure does not include light or heavy tanks which the U. S. Army also has.

But, an army spokesman said today, there is no intention or desire to match Soviet armor, tank for tank, any more than there is attempt to match the huge Russian-satellite force man-for-man.

Several factors are involved in this planning. If a war should start tomorrow, the spokesman said, "current tooled-up production lines could be accelerated to keep us supplied in quantity with superior tanks."

Moreover, army tacticians do not subscribe to the theory the only way to beat an enemy tank is with another tank. The spokesman said that "under certain circumstances, it is true that the best—and, incidentally, the most expensive—way to fight a tank is with another tank."

Other Tank Weapons

But the army also relies on other anti-tank weapons, including the recoilless rifle with its "shaped" charged for penetrating tank armor by a burning action, and the familiar bazooka and rifle grenade launcher for close-in fighting.

Another apparent factor, unmentioned by the army spokesman, is that the 13,000 tank figure shown in Defense Department information, consists only of medium gun tanks. It does not include either the new light tanks, which have been in volume production for well over a year, or heavy tanks just going into production. The 40,000 estimate for the USSR is presumed to include all categories of tanks, including obsolete ones.

Diplomats Report Deliberate Acts to Build Up Strength

Vienna, April 29 (AP) — Any "peace offensive" now underway in East Europe is being accompanied by signs of bigger war preparation than ever behind the iron curtain.

Rather than indications of peaceful intentions, western diplomats on duty in the Soviet bloc countries report there are many signs of a deliberate intensification of military effort.

Both Czechoslovakia and Poland have announced big increases in their military spending for 1953 since Moscow extended the olive branch a month ago. Diplo-

16 Ulster Towns Decontrolled by State Rent Head

Amendments to rent regulations were announced today, decontrolling 16 towns in Ulster county, by the Temporary State Housing Rent Commission, 280 Broadway, New York.

According to the press release the towns affected as of April 30 are: Denning, Esopus, Gardiner, Hurley, Hardenburg, Marbletown, Olive, New Paltz, Plattekill, Rochester, Rosendale, Shandaken, Ulster, Shawangunk, Wawarsing and Woodstock.

Joseph D. McGoldrick, state rent administrator, explained that this action was based on the public hearing held in Newburgh to which tenants and landlords had been invited to express their opinions on the proposal that the villages be decontrolled because control was no longer required.

The report from the rent commission said there was a very small attendance at the meeting on April 4.

Laotian Invaders Capture Bannambac; Pakseng Is Lost

Hanoi, Indochina, April 29 (AP)—The French announced today that Communist-led Vietminh invaders of the kingdom of Laos have taken the post of Bannambac, 40 miles north of the Laotian royal seat of Luangprabang.

It was the second French reverse in the area announced in as many days. Yesterday the French reported the loss of Pakseng, 42 miles northeast of Luangprabang.

It was the second French reverse in the area announced in as many days. Yesterday the French reported the loss of Pakseng, 42 miles northeast of Luangprabang.

Casualties among the attackers and the defenders were not revealed.

Though the Vietminh still had not launched a direct attack on Luangprabang, the Communist leaders appeared to be throwing more and more of their best fighting men into the Laos invasion. Apparently they sought to overrun the little mountain kingdom—90,000 square miles in area—before the heavy seasonal rains start in the next month or two.

Already they claimed control of one-third to one-half of Laos which is one of Indochina's three states, and a neighbor of independent, anti-Communist Thailand.

Double Amputee

a former member of the Eighth Regiment of the First Cavalry Division, said he knew of one American forced to stand on ice until both his feet froze.

Constant Pressure Cited

Tokyo, April 29 (AP)—Some Americans in Communist prison camps went beserk because of "constant pressure" from booming loudspeakers and long lectures in the hot sun, a young California corporal said today.

"I can't estimate how many became mentally sick," Cpl. Cecil V. Preston, 21, of Sausalito, said at Tokyo army hospital.

"Sometimes a man would be walking along. He would see a Chinese guard—or one of the American prisoners we called 'progressives—and would start chasing him. He would lost control of himself because he was so mad at the Communists."

Preston said the guards didn't shoot because they realized "they were sick."

The Californian said that of 200 in his prison company "20 or 30" fell for the Communist line. The other prisoners called them "progressives," he said.

Preston, repatriated at Panmunjom last week, was wounded and captured Jan. 1, 1951, while his unit was holding a line north of Seoul. He had a bullet wound in his chest and grenade fragments in his leg and head.

Propaganda Ceaseless

He said the Reds relentlessly subjected the prisoners to propaganda. Some repatriated Americans are under care of psychiatrists and are not permitted to talk to the press. The number has not been announced.

"The speakers were going off and on all day. They were all over the camp. You couldn't get away from them. The movies were all propaganda," Preston related.

"It was the constant pressure, every day...the lectures while we had to stand out in the sun...the loudspeakers pounding on you every day."

Preston said that Alan Winnington, correspondent for the Communist London Daily Worker, lectured at his camp one time and the prisoners threw rocks at him.

"Some of them hit him," Preston said. "He went out the back door."

Trumans Leave for U. S.

Honolulu, April 29 (AP)—Former President Harry S. Truman and his family sailed for San Francisco aboard the liner President Cleveland last night after a month's vacation here. There was no fanfare as Truman, his wife and daughter boarded the liner. A few friends saw them off. The former President told newsmen "I did nothing but eat, sleep and loaf. Hawaii was wonderful." The Trumans spent virtually the entire month at the coconut island retreat of California oil millionaire Ed Apuley. Asked if he had played any poker Truman replied: "How can you play poker by yourself?"

MSA Requires Check On College Projects

Annandale-on-Hudson, April 29—Under a ruling issued by the Security Office of the Mutual Security Agency, effective April 20, 1953, any individual serving, or who wishes to serve, as an employe, teacher, or consultant of the Bard College-Mutual Security Agency project, must first submit to a loyalty investigation. "This condition of employment," John J. Glynn, project director, states, "has been implicit in the original contract of this College and MSA and apparently applies to all organizations under contract with MSA."

All lecturers and consultants at the College and in Red Hook, Poughkeepsie, New York and other centers who have been participating more or less frequently in the programs for the various Productivity Technical Assistance Teams have received questionnaires. These standard MSA forms must be completed in quadruplicate and be submitted for investigation and clearance along with a U. S. Civil Service Commission Fingerprint Chart.

FEARS OF PEACE DEPRESSION

Peace is no peril. So spoke Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey in trying to allay fears that depression is the inescapable alternative to war—or cold war.

The reassurance was timely. Both at home and abroad, there has been too much fear-mongering over the prospect that a serious slackening of tension would plunge America and the free world into a pit.

Another fresh expression of confidence in the U. S. economy came the other day from the nation's big motor-makers in Detroit. Wade Jones, in a dispatch for NEA Service aimed at measuring the possible impact of peace on the automobile capital, reports the top firms are expecting civilian production needs to offset any likely curtailment in defense output.

Worries over readjustment are natural, but to compound these into monumental fears is to reveal either a neurotic outlook toward the world or a weird sense of values.

The logic of this attitude is this: We do not dare slack off our war and defense efforts, for they are maintaining the free world's economy at its present high level, and without them we cannot get along.

This amounts to saying that we have an established, permanent interest in keeping on with war or cold war. It amounts to saying that we are afraid of peace.

No American wants to believe that, or should. If it were true, then Russan propaganda would be justified. For the Russians have been saying for 35 years that free capitalist economies cannot sustain themselves without the external stimuli of war or imperialistic exploitation.

Certainly we did suffer a great depression, and certainly most of the economic growth we have had since then has been tangled up with war, its aftermath, and cold war.

But the whole foundation of this nation's economy, the entire pattern of world trade and industry, has been altered in the 20-year interval since depression struck. Many of the changes are not for the better, but a large number are.

In America, for instance, the population base is vastly greater than in 1953. Industry and the service trades, all aside from defense activity, are on a far broader footing. Thus the national market is greater and the country's ability to sustain a high level likewise enhanced.

That does not mean we are depression-proof. The system we have is so complex, so dependent upon the variables of world conditions, that anyone would be foolish to declare it is invulnerable.

But there is one other important difference between now and the big depression. Today we know in advance that the President will at the first signal of real trouble marshal all the power of government to prevent an economic crisis. Many props and safeguards already exist for certain parts of the economy; the whole would be shored up vigorously if it started to sag.

Humphrey has given a fitting answer to those who talk of peace as if it were something to be chased from under the bed. After all, it is supposed to be the normal state. Things have come to a fine pass if we have to fear normality.

THE AMMUNITION SCANDAL

It is difficult to understand why, if our industries were capable of such successful production in World War II, they fell down during the Korean War. Obviously, that could not be, because when American industry gets a contract, it produces and delivers the goods. Therefore the trouble must be in the Pentagon.

Now, let us have a little look at Pentagon history:

A small number of officers were extremely important to the successful procurement of supplies for the Army during World War II. Until about January, 1941, procurement was handled in the same general way in which it has been handled during the Korean War; namely, through the Chiefs of Supply Arms and Services and under the general guidance, as to requirements, and with considerable interfering supervision of G-4.

About January, 1941, the supervision was taken out of the control of G-4 and an organization was set up under General Brehon Burke Somervell as the Commanding General of the Service of Supply, later termed the Army Services Forces. In this setup the Chief of Supply Arms and Services reported to General Somervell. Although the procurement problems were enormously difficult, they were surprisingly well met.

It is interesting in this connection to note that in previous major wars there had always been a change in the men who occupied the office of Quartermaster General. This was not done in World War II because of the successful operation of this organization by the then Quartermaster General Edmund B. Gregory. The handling of the Quartermaster responsibilities during World War II was one of the outstanding successes in our military history.

The Ordnance Department was headed in 1940 by General Charles M. Wesson. The driving force in the procurement of ammunition and of other Ordnance supplies was Lieutenant General Levin H. Campbell, Jr., who established an outstanding reputation. In this capacity he was responsible for seeing to it that new facilities were provided for the manufacture of arms and ammunition. He had under his direction four officers, three of them regulars, Colonel Forrest C. Shaffer, Colonel John C. Raaen, and Colonel Henry B. Sheets, and one civilian, Colonel Herbert White, who was from the automotive industry.

When General Wesson's term of office expired, General Campbell became Chief of Ordnance and his usual drive and ability spread through the entire organization.

One of the other major and most difficult factors in ammunition production was the construction for the housing of manufacturing facilities. This was originally under General Edmund B. Gregory, the Quartermaster General, with General Somervell in direct charge.

In both ammunition procurement and construction every effort was made to avoid delay, and delays were avoided. The officers had a definite understanding of the needs of the troops, although they were not responsible for estimating these needs. Certainly General Campbell, General Somervell and General Leslie R. Groves, who was Deputy Chief of Construction before he went to the Manhattan Project, had a better appreciation of the need for small arms ammunition in the summer of 1941 than seemed to be existent anywhere else. They knew their business and recognized their responsibilities. They seemed to feel keenly the obligation to see that troops in action had the ammunition they neded. There were no failures.

The same kind of energy and responsibility went into the Manhattan Project, when General Leslie R. Groves managed it. The atom bomb was made and used before the war was over. When General Groves was assigned to the Manhattan Project, Secretary Stimson told him that he was to do anything that was necessary, if by so doing it he could complete the project one day sooner.

Many other names may be mentioned in connection with this great work which won a war by production and supply. Why is it that none of these men of experience is being used even in a consultative capacity? Many of them are in private industry using their vast experience, much of it gained while in the Army. Is there no way to use them for America?

I come back to the subject of our profligate use of manpower. These officers have had a wonderful training; we retire them at their peak to make room for the next generation. Nevertheless, there ought to be a way of using them, if only in a consultative capacity.

TREATMENT OF TIC DOLOREUX

I write from time to time about tic doloreux, that terrible pain of the face and head that sometimes cannot be relieved by the most powerful sedatives, even morphine. For many years an extensive operation was necessary to give the patient relief.

A few weeks ago I wrote about the medical treatment of trigeminal neuralgia and alcohol injections which gave relief in many cases, making surgical operations sometimes unnecessary. The information regarding treatment of this unbearable pain should be known to sufferers and their families.

In the Journal of Neurosurgery, Springfield, Illinois, Drs. M. M. Peet and R. C. Schneider present information on 689 cases of trigeminal neuralgia that was observed during the ten-year period from 1938 to 1949 inclusive. Of this number, 553 had been treated by rhizotomy (surgical division of nerve roots coming from spine); 49 had been given alcohol injections, and the remaining 87 received no treatment.

A follow-up of the cases was accomplished by questionnaire with 69 per cent response from the patients who had trigeminal rhizotomy, a 55 per cent response from those who had alcohol injections only, and 41 per cent response from the patients who had received no treatment.

Of the 36 who replied who had received no treatment: 4 had complete disappearance of their pain, 20 had return of severe pain, 3 were operated on elsewhere with relief of discomfort, and 9 had received alcohol injections elsewhere with complete relief of discomfort in five.

From the above, Drs. Peet and Schneider gained the impression that trigeminal rhizotomy is a much more satisfactory treatment than alcohol injection in the average case of trigeminal neuralgia for there had been complete relief of pain in all but 5.4 per cent of the patients undergoing this operation.

Alcohol injection, on the other hand, relieved the pain of only 15.2 per cent of the patients for longer than one year. However, the various complaints of crawling sensation, 5.6 per cent of burning sensation and numbness (4 per cent) among the patients who had undergone operation is much higher than is usually stated and occurs as often as those after alcohol injections. Most of the patients, however, are so pleased to have relief of their severe pain that they do not talk or tell about symptoms that mean only discomfort."

The death rate was only 1.6 per cent which is reasonable in a group in which more than a third were over 65 years of age.

Although operation gives the most lasting relief from severe pain, the fact that alcohol injections give relief for periods of weeks and months is worth knowing. Operation can always be performed if necessary.

NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington, (NEA) — U. S. Treasury action in floating the latest billion-dollar bond issue at 3¼ per cent interest has made financial experts out of a lot of people who never bothered about such things before.

Commonest and most easily understood criticism of this action is that it raises the bill for government interest payments by $5 million a year. A one half of one per cent raise in interest rates on a billion dollars amounts to that much.

Since one of the principal aims of the new administration is to cut the costs of government operations and so save money, the question naturally arises as to why the Treasury did this thing?

W. Randolph Burgess, New York banker now serving as deputy secretary of Treasury, is the official who took principal responsibility for engineering this deal. His particular job in the new administration is debt management and monetary policy.

Mr. Burgess says the government didn't arbitrarily set this interest rate at a higher level just to give the investors a break. The rate, he says, was determined by the current market supply and demand for money.

Before determining the interest rate on the new bond issue, Treasury made a careful survey of this money market. Life insurance companies, savings banks, and the big pension funds like Standard Oil of New Jersey's were polled on what terms they would pay for new government long-term bond issue. Eighty per cent of the insurance companies were eventually covered in this poll.

Wouldn't Sell at Lower Rate

No interest was shown in buying government bonds at 3 per cent interest. If this issue had been offered at that figure, says Mr. Burgess, it would not have sold.

As proof of that, the experience of Allied Chemical is cited in trying to float a $200 million loan just before the government bond issue was announced. This company had to pay 3.56 per cent interest for its money. That was the current market level for commercial borrowing. The Treasury undercut this rate a fraction.

Furthermore, the government had to offer this bond issue on a 25-to-30-year basis. A 15-year issue was not considered practical because the Treasury has a number of other obligations maturing in 1968. The burden of refinancing in 1968 had to be kept down.

The alternative to issuing this long-term bond issue at 3¼ per cent would have been "to print" a lot of new money, as Mr. Burgess calls it, by selling securities to the banks.

That is the way the government raised much of its new money in recent years. And according to one theory, that is what is responsible for the rise in prices and the devaluation of the dollar.

Instead of printing new money, the Treasury was trying to find investors with a lot of old money saved up, and to get these people to buy government bonds.

The effect of this will be to c down the amount of money available for other purposes. It is hoped this will force some people who may be wanting to borrow money to postpone their operations. This is exactly what the Treasury wants.

Protect Value of Savings

The purpose is not to force prices down, nor to force wages down, Mr. Burgess maintains. The spending power of the dollar can be maintained, he believes, but a little bit of the fat in the economy can be trimmed off.

The effect of this is expected to be to protect the value of the savings of some 75 to 80 million people have in life insurance policies and the 50 million people who own U. S. Savings bonds. It as also intended to help the people with money in savings accounts whose interest payments have been held down, and the people living on pensions. These, says Mr. Burgess, are the people who suffer the most in a free money market when the inflationary tendency is higher.

Just because this one government bond issue had to be sold at 3¼ per cent interest is no reason why all subsequent bond issues will have to be floated at higher interest rates. And it is no reason why all other interest rates on private mortgages or government-insured home loans and GI loans will have to be increased.

The chances are fair, says Mr. Burgess, that the Treasury will be borrowing at lower rates within the next two years. Whatever the future interest rates may be, they will be determined by money market conditions at the time and by the government's need for money.

This in turn will be determined by whether the new budget director, Joseph M. Dodge, can balance government expenses with government receipts, whether Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson can reduce American military spending, and by what Malenkov and Co. decide to do.

Travels Without Money

Rio de Janeiro (AP) — A "magic phrase" is helping a young North American make a tour of the world. Joseph Bornel, 25, of Montana arrived here recently on the South American stage of his journey. Since leaving Montana, he says he has spent 76 cents, although he is prepared to spend up to 50 dollars for the whole trip. So far, he has visited Honduras, Cuba, Trinidad, Venezeula, British Guiana, via car, airplane and ship. After visiting Argentina, he hopes to go on to Africa. The magic phrase? "I have no money." Bornel claims that after he says that, people are willing to help him find free passage or lodging.

Unconventional Priest

Paris (AP) — France has an unconventional Catholic priest, the Abbe Simon, known as "God's acrobat." To get money to restore his church in the village of Saone in eastern France, the Abbe Simon goes around the country putting on a diving exhibition from a platform 105 feet high. "I was scared to death the first time, but I threw myself off the platform with a prayer to St. Theresa to protect me," said the Abbe, who earned $180 from the first jump, and since has made 12 others. He picked up $57 from an unexpected quarter—from a woman who begged him to give up his dare-devil exploits.

Procedures on Loyalty Will Be Reviewed as to Value in Individual Cases

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, April 29. Every administration is entitled to a chance to deal with new problems in its own way—provided it does not reject out of hand pointed lessons of experience.

The new loyalty and security program announced by the Eisenhower administration is drastic in some respects and lenient in others. About the only way the procedures will be finally evaluated will be tests in individual cases as they arise.

Certainly nobody who examines the long, technical executive order issued by the President—prepared after many weeks of soul-searching study by his subordinates in the Department of Justice and the Civil Service Commission—will say that it is soft so far as Communists in government are concerned. If anything, it is a bit tough on the individual employe, who can in a case of abuse be thrown out of his job because he doesn't happen to play up to the whims of his department or agency head. He will have no right of formal review above the department or agency in which he has been employed.

There is not to be a loyalty review board now, as there was under the Truman administration. Hence there will be no regular system of post-audit of individual cases of suspected disloyalty where a department or agency has "cleared" an employe of charges. The reason given for abandoning the Loyalty Review Board is that there was no provision of law to permit its functioning. But the Loyalty Review Board was always an "advisory" board and final responsibility rested with the department or agency head.

In no case under the Truman administration was the Loyalty Review Board reversed by a department or agency head. The only instance occurred in the Vincent case under the present administration, when Secretary of State Dulles reversed the Loyalty Review Board, saying he had the legal right to do so—which was, of course, correct. It isn't necessary for such a review board to have power to dismiss ineligibles, but under the last administration it was an unwritten law that the President would stand back of the Loyalty Review Board's recommendation. Under the present administration the plan from the beginning has been to alter the whole setup and eliminate the review board system. This now has been embodied in the executive order.

There are some administration officials who point out that the Civil Service Commission, under the new executive order, may create advisory boards or committees to make recommendations as to the effectiveness of the procedures and that provision is made for study of defects. Experience may show that it is desirable also to create some sort of review system inside the Civil Service Commission, so that a technical staff may review and take action on the proceedings in any case before the department or agencies where security or loyalty cases may have been considered.

There now is a disposition in the new setup to avoid the word "loyalty" altogether and make dismissals entirely on a "security" basis, with the elements of "unsuitability" strongly imbedded in the meaning of the word "security." For it is recognized that any immoral or dishonest person or individual of loose habits generally might become the victim of pressure of blackmail by agents of foreign governments. So "security" covers a multitude of sins.

In general, the new program deserves a fair trial. Its weaknesses will become apparent as experience increases. Since the motivation of the present administration is to expose or remove bad security risks and not to conceal or try to defend them, as some officials in the State Department felt it was their duty to do under the last administration, there is every reason to believe that, if defects in the procedures arise, they will soon be corrected.

The one big weakness—the unfamiliarity of persons chosen to act as security boards in 60 different agencies with the ways and techniques of Communists and fellow travelers—cannot be corrected until the new administration gets its fingers burned by specific cases. For the Communist will lie about his connections, he will vilify his critics, he will cry out loudly about constitutional rights and how they are violated under McCarthyism, and "witch hunts," and yet at the same time he will be a secret member of a Communist organization confident that he will not be caught. Or he will refuse to do his duty as a citizen and reveal his knowledge of criminal conspiracies even when he himself may not have been a part of such conspiracies.

It will not be easy to educate all the newcomers on the security boards to the tricks of the Communists—but the Eisenhower administration is going to try to erect as many safeguards as possible against gullibility or deception. A sincere purpose is being manifested by those who have the responsibility at the Department of Justice and the Civil Service Commission to make the new program accomplish the desired end—to drive Communists and their auxiliaries out of government.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

I have a report by an agent of the FBI who was sent into Soviet Russia in 1943 to investigate backbiting among the American representatives. I dealt with this situation a year ago with excerpts from the memoirs of Admiral H. Standley, our ambassador. Admiral Standley told resentfully of the intrusion of Joseph E. Davies, who still is called "Mr. Ambassador" by his own flunkeys, and of Wendell Willkie. Both of them went to Moscow with special credentials from F. D. Roosevelt and undermined Standley. Although he was a professional fighting man, Standley never substantiated his confidential outbursts to his staff with the sort of protest to Roosevelt that the situation called for. In the end he just said he was bowing out because he did not feel qualified to deal with the problems of making peace.

The report in my possession was written to J. Edgar Hoover by an agent whom he sent to Russia on a pretext in response to a request from General George Marshall, then chief of staff, to investigate the conduct of Brig. Gen. Philip R. Faymonville, the lend-lease administrator, who has been lavishly praised since the war by American Communist papers as a military genius who did not underestimate Russia. Faymonville has retired with the rank of major general. He was a favorite of Eleanor Roosevelt and of Averell Harriman, who insisted on dumping mountains of industrial equipment in Russia frankly intended to make Russia an industrial nation, replacing Germany in the world lineup. That equipment helped give Russia the industrial plant which is now making war on the West.

Hoover's letter transmitting the agent's report was marked "personal and confidential by special messenger." It went first to Maj. Gen. George V. Strong, then chief of intelligence. This is followed by a letter to Marshall, initialed "J T M," remarking that "the situation described cannot fail to bring discredit on the United States" and recommending the withdrawal of Brig. Gen. Joseph A. Michela, military attache, and Faymonville. These initials are interpreted as those of John T. McCloy, assistant secretary of war, but actually McCloy's middle initial is J. There may have been an error of typewriter transcription. The "J T M" letter proposed that Harry Hopkins send a civilian to replace Faymonville.

Michela died in Prague in June, 1949, where he was serving as attache. He was said to have died of a hemorrhage of the brain, but his family does not believe that. He was a West Pointer, in fine health except for some trouble with his back. He had an anti-Communist background and the American Communists hated him.

The FBI man's report leads off with a statement that General Marshall had received information that Faymonville was not cooperating with other U. S. missions to Russia. It describes Michela as Faymonville's "principal opponent."

Admiral Stanley says Faymonville was pro-Russian but not, in his opinion, pro-Communist. He maintains that Faymonville did trespass on the military field in his dealings with the Russians when he was supposed to confine himself absolutely to lend-lease. Faymonville himself is quoted as having said: "The Soviets are the greatest warriors the world has ever seen."

Faymonville served an earlier hitch in Russia, going there with William Bullitt, our first ambassador after recognition of Russia in 1933. He stayed through the administrations of Davies and Alexander Kirk, as charge d'affaires. His assignment as military attache ended in 1939. Col. Ivan Yeaton, an anti-Communist specialist in Russian affairs, succeeded him. Yeaton later was brought home and sentenced to one year at a desk in the Pentagon, with nothing to do, as punishment. He had expressed a professional opinion that Hitler's armies would go through the Russians like a knife through butter. His judgment was set at naught by Hitler's reliance on his "intuition," which led him into inconceivable errors.

The report says Davies "allegedly" was instrumental in keeping Faymonville in Moscow even though the FBI agent reported that Kirk was said to have remarked: "You can't talk to Faymonville about Russia any more than you can talk about his mother."

"Faymonville frequently quarreled with his own assistant, Col. Frank B. Hayne," the report says. "The Faymonville-Hayne quarrel over their respective views on Soviet matters was said to have reached the point where Faymonville, emotionally upset, would, at

FEARS OF PEACE DEPRESSION

Peace is no peril. So spoke Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey in trying to allay fears that depression is the inescapable alternative to war—or cold war.

The reassurance was timely. Both at home and abroad, there has been too much fear-mongering over the prospect that a serious slackening of tension would plunge America and the free world into a pit.

Another fresh expression of confidence in the U. S. economy came the other day from the nation's big motor-makers in Detroit. Wade Jones, in a dispatch for NEA Service aimed at measuring the possible impact of peace on the automobile capital, reports the top firms are expecting civilian production needs to offset any likely curtailment in defense output.

Worries over readjustment are natural, but to compound these into monumental fears is to reveal either a neurotic outlook toward the world or a weird sense of values.

The logic of this attitude is this: We do not dare slack off our war and defense efforts, for they are maintaining the free world's economy at its present high level, and without them we cannot get along.

This amounts to saying that we have an established, permanent interest in keeping on with war or cold war. It amounts to saying that we are afraid of peace.

No American wants to believe that, or should. If it were true, then Russan propaganda would be justified. For the Russians have been saying for 35 years that free capitalist economies cannot sustain themselves without the external stimuli of war or imperialistic exploitation.

Certainly we did suffer a great depression, and certainly most of the economic growth we have had since then has been tangled up with war, its aftermath, and cold war.

But the whole foundation of this nation's economy, the entire pattern of world trade and industry, has been altered in the 20-year interval since depression struck. Many of the changes are not for the better, but a large number are.

In America, for instance, the population base is vastly greater than in 1953. Industry and the service trades, all aside from defense activity, are on a far broader footing. Thus the national market is greater and the country's ability to sustain a high level likewise enhanced.

That does not mean we are depression-proof. The system we have is so complex, so dependent upon the variables of world conditions, that anyone would be foolish to declare it is invulnerable.

But there is one other important difference between now and the big depression. Today we know in advance that the President will at the first signal of real trouble marshal all the power of government to prevent an economic crisis. Many props and safeguards already exist for certain parts of the economy; the whole would be shored up vigorously if it started to sag.

Humphrey has given a fitting answer to those who talk of peace as if it were something to be chased from under the bed. After all, it is supposed to be the normal state. Things have come to a fine pass if we have to fear normality.

THE AMMUNITION SCANDAL

It is difficult to understand why, if our industries were capable of such successful production in World War II, they fell down during the Korean War. Obviously, that could not be, because when American industry gets a contract, it produces and delivers the goods. Therefore the trouble must be in the Pentagon.

Now, let us have a little look at Pentagon history:

A small number of officers were extremely important to the successful procurement of supplies for the Army during World War II. Until about January, 1941, procurement was handled in the same general way in which it has been handled during the Korean War; namely, through the Chiefs of Supply Arms and Services and under the general guidance, as to requirements, and with considerable interfering supervision of G-4.

About January, 1941, the supervision was taken out of the control of G-4 and an organization was set up under General Brehon Burke Somercell as the Commanding General of the Service of Supply, later termed the Army Services Forces. In this setup the Chief of Supply Arms and Services reported to General Somervell. Although the procurement problems were enormously difficult, they were surprisingly well met.

It is interesting in this connection to note that in previous major wars there had always been a change in the men who occupied the office of Quartermaster General. This was not done in World War II because of the successful operation of this organization by the then Quartermaster General Edmund B. Gregory. The handling of the Quartermaster responsibilities during World War II was one of the outstanding successes in our military history.

When General Wesson's term of office expired, General Campbell became Chief of Ordnance and his usual drive and ability spread through the entire organization.

One of the other major and most difficult factors in ammunition production was the construction for the housing of manufacturing facilities. This was originally under General Edmund B. Gregory, the Quartermaster General, with General Somervell in direct charge.

In both ammunition procurement and construction every effort was made to avoid delay, and delays were avoided. The officers had a definite understanding of the needs of the troops, although they were not responsible for estimating these needs. ### TREATMENT OF TIC DOLOREUX

I write from time to time about tic doloreux, that terrible pain of the face and head that sometimes cannot be relieved by the most powerful sedatives, even morphine. For many years an extensive operation was necessary to give the patient relief.

A few weeks ago I wrote about the medical treatment of trigeminal neuralgia and alcohol injections which gave relief in many cases, making surgical operations sometimes unnecessary. The information regarding treatment of this unbearable pain should be known to sufferers and their families.

In the Journal of Neurosurgery, Springfield, Illinois, Drs. M. M. Peet and R. C. Schneider present information on 689 cases of trigeminal neuralgia that was observed during the ten-year period from 1938 to 1949 inclusive. Of this number, 553 had been treated by rhizotomy (surgical division of nerve roots coming from spine); 49 had been given alcohol injections, and the remaining 87 received no treatment.

A follow-up of the cases was accomplished by questionnaire with 69 per cent response from the patients who had trigeminal rhizotomy, a 55 per cent response from those who had alcohol injections only, and 41 per cent response from the patients who had received no treatment.

Of the 36 who replied who had received no treatment: 4 had complete disappearance of their pain, 20 had return of severe pain, 3 were operated on elsewhere with relief of discomfort, and 9 had received alcohol injections elsewhere with complete relief of discomfort in five.

From the above, Drs. Peet and Schneider gained the impression that trigeminal rhizotomy is a much more satisfactory treatment than alcohol injection in the average case of trigeminal neuralgia for there had been complete relief of pain in all but 5.4 per cent of the patients undergoing this operation.

Alcohol injection, on the other hand, relieved the pain of only 15.2 per cent of the patients for longer than one year. However, the various complaints of crawling sensation, 5.6 per cent of burning sensation and numbness (4 per cent) among the patients who had undergone operation is much higher than is usually stated and occurs as often as those after alcohol injections. Most of the patients, however, are so pleased to have relief of their severe pain that they do not talk or tell about symptoms that mean only discomfort."

The death rate was only 1.6 per cent which is reasonable in a group in which more than a third were over 65 years of age.

Although operation gives the most lasting relief from severe pain, the fact that alcohol injections give relief for periods of weeks and months is worth knowing. Operation can always be performed if necessary.

Edson's Washington News Notebook

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington, (NEA) — U. S. Treasury action in floating the latest billion-dollar bond issue at 3¼ per cent interest has made financial experts out of a lot of people who never bothered about such things before.

Commonest and most easily understood criticism of this action is that it raises the bill for government interest payments by $5 million a year. A one half of one per cent raise in interest rates on a billion dollars amounts to that much.

Since one of the principal aims of the new administration is to cut the costs of government operations and so save money, the question naturally arises as to why the Treasury did this thing?

W. Randolph Burgess, New York banker now serving as deputy secretary of Treasury, is the official who took principal responsibility for engineering this deal. His particular job in the new administration is debt management and monetary policy.

Mr. Burgess says the government didn't arbitrarily set this interest rate at a higher level just to give the investors a break. The rate, he says, was determined by the current market supply and demand for money.

Before determining the interest rate on the new bond issue, Treasury made a careful survey of this money market. Life insurance companies, savings banks, and the big pension funds like Standard Oil of New Jersey's were polled on what terms they would pay for new government long-term bond issue. Eighty per cent of the insurance companies were eventually covered in this poll.

Wouldn't Sell at Lower Rate

No interest was shown in buying government bonds at 3 per cent interest. If this issue had been offered at that figure, says Mr. Burgess, it would not have sold.

As proof of that, the experience of Allied Chemical is cited in trying to float a $200 million loan just before the government bond issue was announced. This company had to pay 3.56 per cent interest for its money. That was the current market level for commercial borrowing. The Treasury undercut this rate a fraction.

Furthermore, the government had to offer this bond issue on a 25-to-30-year basis. A 15-year issue was not considered practical because the Treasury has a number of other obligations maturing in 1968. The burden of refinancing in 1968 had to be kept down.

The alternative to issuing this long-term bond issue at 3¼ per cent would have been "to print" a lot of new money, as Mr. Burgess calls it, by selling securities to the banks.

That is the way the government raised much of its new money in recent years. And according to one theory, that is what is responsible for the rise in prices and the devaluation of the dollar.

Instead of printing new money, the Treasury was trying to find investors with a lot of old money saved up, and to get these people to buy government bonds.

The effect of this will be to c down the amount of money available for other purposes. It is hoped this will force some people who may be wanting to borrow money to postpone their operations. This is exactly what the Treasury wants.

Protect Value of Savings

The purpose is not to force prices down, nor to force wages down, Mr. Burgess maintains. The spending power of the dollar can be maintained, he believes, but a little bit of the fat in the economy can be trimmed off.

The effect of this is expected to be to protect the value of the savings of some 75 to 80 million people have in life insurance policies and the 50 million people who own U. S. Savings bonds. It as also intended to help the people with money in savings accounts whose interest payments have been held down, and the people living on pensions. These, says Mr. Burgess, are the people who suffer the most in a free money market when the inflationary tendency is higher.

Just because this one government bond issue had to be sold at 3¼ per cent interest is no reason why all subsequent bond issues will have to be floated at higher interest rates. And it is no reason why all other interest rates on private mortgages or government-insured home loans and GI loans will have to be increased.

The chances are fair, says Mr. Burgess, that the Treasury will be borrowing at lower rates within the next two years. Whatever the future interest rates may be, they will be determined by money market conditions at the time and by the government's need for money.

This in turn will be determined by whether the new budget director, Joseph M. Dodge, can balance government expenses with government receipts, whether Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson can reduce American military spending, and by what Malenkov and Co. decide to do.

Travels Without Money

Rio de Janeiro (AP) — A "magic phrase" is helping a young North American make a tour of the world. Joseph Bornel, 25, of Montana arrived here recently on the South American stage of his journey. Since leaving Montana, he says he has spent 76 cents, although he is prepared to spend up to 50 dollars for the whole trip. So far, he has visited Honduras, Cuba, Trinidad, Venezeula, British Guiana, via car, airplane and ship. After visiting Argentina, he hopes to go on to Africa. The magic phrase? "I have no money." Bornel claims that after he says that, people are willing to help him find free passage or lodging.

Unconventional Priest

Paris (AP) — France has an unconventional Catholic priest, the Abbe Simon, known as "God's acrobat." To get money to restore his church in the village of Saone in eastern France, the Abbe Simon goes around the country putting on a diving exhibition from a platform 105 feet high. "I was scared to death the first time, but I threw myself off the platform with a prayer to St. Theresa to protect me," said the Abbe, who earned $180 from the first jump, and since has made 12 others. He picked up $57 from an unexpected quarter—from a woman who begged him to give up his dare-devil exploits.

Procedures on Loyalty Will Be Reviewed as to Value in Individual Cases

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, April 29. Every administration is entitled to a chance to deal with new problems in its own way—provided it does not reject out of hand pointed lessons of experience.

The new loyalty and security program announced by the Eisenhower administration is drastic in some respects and lenient in others. About the only way the procedures will be finally evaluated will be tests in individual cases as they arise.

Certainly nobody who examines the long, technical executive order issued by the President—prepared after many weeks of soul-searching study by his subordinates in the Department of Justice and the Civil Service Commission—will say that it is soft so far as Communists in government are concerned. If anything, it is a bit tough on the individual employe, who can in a case of abuse be thrown out of his job because he doesn't happen to play up to the whims of his department or agency head. He will have no right of formal review above the department or agency in which he has been employed.

There is not to be a loyalty review board now, as there was under the Truman administration. Hence there will be no regular system of post-audit of individual cases of suspected disloyalty where a department or agency has "cleared" an employe of charges. The reason given for abandoning the Loyalty Review Board is that there was no provision of law to permit its functioning. But the Loyalty Review Board was always an "advisory" board and final responsibility rested with the department or agency head.

In no case under the Truman administration was the Loyalty Review Board reversed by a department or agency head. The only instance occurred in the Vincent case under the present administration, when Secretary of State Dulles reversed the Loyalty Review Board, saying he had the legal right to do so—which was, of course, correct. It isn't necessary for such a review board to have power to dismiss ineligibles, but under the last administration it was an unwritten law that the President would stand back of the Loyalty Review Board's recommendation. Under the present administration the plan from the beginning has been to alter the whole setup and eliminate the review board system. This now has been embodied in the executive order.

There are some administration officials who point out that the Civil Service Commission, under the new executive order, may create advisory boards or committees to make recommendations as to the effectiveness of the procedures and that provision is made for study of defects. Experience may show that it is desirable also to create some sort of review system inside the Civil Service Commission, so that a technical staff may review and take action on the proceedings in any case before the department or agencies where security or loyalty cases may have been considered.

There now is a disposition in the new setup to avoid the word "loyalty" altogether and make dismissals entirely on a "security" basis, with the elements of "unsuitability" strongly imbedded in the meaning of the word "security." For it is recognized that any immoral or dishonest person or individual of loose habits generally might become the victim of pressure of blackmail by agents of foreign governments. So "security" covers a multitude of sins.

In general, the new program deserves a fair trial. Its weaknesses will become apparent as experience increases. Since the motivation of the present administration is to expose or remove bad security risks and not to conceal or try to defend them, as some officials in the State Department felt it was their duty to do under the last administration, there is every reason to believe that, if defects in the procedures arise, they will soon be corrected.

The one big weakness—the unfamiliarity of persons chosen to act as security boards in 60 different agencies with the ways and techniques of Communists and fellow travelers—cannot be corrected until the new administration gets its fingers burned by specific cases. For the Communist will lie about his connections, he will vilify his critics, he will cry out loudly about constitutional rights and how they are violated under McCarthyism, and "witch hunts," and yet at the same time he will be a secret member of a Communist organization confident that he will not be caught. Or he will refuse to do his duty as a citizen and reveal his knowledge of criminal conspiracies even when he himself may not have been a part of such conspiracies.

It will not be easy to educate all the newcomers on the security boards to the tricks of the Communists—but the Eisenhower administration is going to try to erect as many safeguards as possible against gullibility or deception. A sincere purpose is being manifested by those who have the responsibility at the Department of Justice and the Civil Service Commission to make the new program accomplish the desired end—to drive Communists and their auxiliaries out of government.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

I have a report by an agent of the FBI who was sent into Soviet Russia in 1943 to investigate backbiting among the American representatives. I dealt with this situation a year ago with excerpts from the memoirs of Admiral H. Standley, our ambassador. Admiral Standley told resentfully of the intrusion of Joseph E. Davies, who still is called "Mr. Ambassador" by his own flunkeys, and of Wendell Willkie. Both of them went to Moscow with special credentials from F. D. Roosevelt and undermined Standley. Although he was a professional fighting man, Standley never substantiated his confidential outbursts to his staff with the sort of protest to Roosevelt that the situation called for. In the end he just said he was bowing out because he did not feel qualified to deal with the problems of making peace.

The report in my possession was written to J. Edgar Hoover by an agent whom he sent to Russia on a pretext in response to a request from General George Marshall, then chief of staff, to investigate the conduct of Brig. Gen. Philip R. Faymonville, the lend-lease administrator, who has been lavishly praised since the war by American Communist papers as a military genius who did not underestimate Russia. Faymonville has retired with the rank of major general. He was a favorite of Eleanor Roosevelt and of Averell Harriman, who insisted on dumping mountains of industrial equipment in Russia frankly intended to make Russia an industrial nation, replacing Germany in the world lineup. That equipment helped give Russia the industrial plant which is now making war on the West.

Hoover's letter transmitting the agent's report was marked "personal and confidential by special messenger." It went first to Maj. Gen. George V. Strong, then chief of intelligence. This is followed by a letter to Marshall, initialed "J T M," remarking that "the situation described cannot fail to bring discredit on the United States" and recommending the withdrawal of Brig. Gen. Joseph A. Michela, military attache, and Faymonville. These initials are interpreted as those of John T. McCloy, assistant secretary of war, but actually McCloy's middle initial is J. There may have been an error of typewriter transcription. The "J T M" letter proposed that Harry Hopkins send a civilian to replace Faymonville.

Michela died in Prague in June, 1949, where he was serving as attache. He was said to have died of a hemorrhage of the brain, but his family does not believe that. He was a West Pointer, in fine health except for some trouble with his back. He had an anti-Communist background and the American Communists hated him.

The FBI man's report leads off with a statement that General Marshall had received information that Faymonville was not cooperating with other U. S. missions to Russia. It describes Michela as Faymonville's "principal opponent."

Admiral Stanley says Faymonville was pro-Russian but not, in his opinion, pro-Communist. He maintains that Faymonville did trespass on the military field in his dealings with the Russians when he was supposed to confine himself absolutely to lend-lease. Faymonville himself is quoted as having said: "The Soviets are the greatest warriors the world has ever seen."

Faymonville served an earlier hitch in Russia, going there with William Bullitt, our first ambassador after recognition of Russia in 1933. He stayed through the administrations of Davies and Alexander Kirk, as charge d'affaires. His assignment as military attache ended in 1939. Col. Ivan Yeaton, an anti-Communist specialist in Russian affairs, succeeded him. Yeaton later was brought home and sentenced to one year at a desk in the Pentagon, with nothing to do, as punishment. He had expressed a professional opinion that Hitler's armies would go through the Russians like a knife through butter. His judgment was set at naught by Hitler's reliance on his "intuition," which led him into inconceivable errors.

The report says Davies "allegedly" was instrumental in keeping Faymonville in Moscow even though the FBI agent reported that Kirk was said to have remarked: "You can't talk to Faymonville about Russia any more than you can talk about his mother."

"Faymonville frequently quarreled with his own assistant, Col. Frank B. Hayne," the report says. "The Faymonville-Hayne quarrel over their respective views on Soviet matters was said to have reached the point where Faymonville, emotionally upset, would, at

A Column of Contrary Opinion

One of the reasons why "contrary opinions" frequently prove accurate in gauging coming events may be explained by our habit of taking the short-term view of events.

I think a very strong case may be made for this assertion: Countless ill-advised decisions may be traced to short-term thinking on long-term problems.

Americans are impatient. They want events to come to a head quickly. "Let's get on with the job" is a characteristic American saying. This trait is splendid for an industrialized and mechanized society, because jobs do get done —and fast.

But when this same trait is applied to political and diplomatic dealings it is likely to jam up the works.

This thought comes to mind at this time because you see this marked difference in traits in our attempted dealings with Russia. The oriental mind understands the value of time — of playing for time. We occidentals will never learn it, and that is why we find it virtually impossible to "get together" with Red China, with Russia, and others of the oriental type of mind. Time means nothing to the oriental, except that they know the value of playing everlastingly with time to win their points.

In consequence, when you try to forecast or judge the outcome of international events—which are bound up tightly with oriental minds—you are likely to go far astray because you take a short-run view of what will prove to be be a long-range affair.

Consider President Eisenhower's much-propagandized foreign-policy speech of April 16, before the American Society of Newspaper Editors. It has been heralded around the world as a "peace offensive." Copies of the speech were distributed to all nations. A great to-do has been made about this speech—but very little attention has been given to the fact that it won't work wonders overnight!

People generally are taking a short view of the Eisenhower message, which is obviously a long-range proposition. Therefore, there are bound to be disappointments. The short view—hopes for a quick solution to the Russian problem—is a delusion. But that's the way we Americans jump at things. We're deluded time and again because, to repeat, we look at long-future events through near-sighted spectacles.

Also, it seems extraordinary, in a way, that we are tackling the long-range Russian problem through the newspapers!

One can only presume that the Eisenhower foreign-policy speech —and the one by Dulles two days later (which tended to confuse the issue somewhat, many think)— was purposely planned for public consumption and propaganda. Otherwise, one would suppose that secret diplomacy would be employed in the effort to find peaceful solution to the "two-world enigma."

Contrary to the generally congratulatory reactions to the speech, it seems to this contrary-minded writer, that it is a poor use of words to call it a "peace offensive." You don't go on a peace offensive: you defend the peace. What the Eisenhower message actually comes down to is a world-enveloping demand for "surrender." Being misnamed an "offensive" it naturally stimulated just the sort of reply one would expect. Perhaps you read the reply as printed in the Moscow papers, "Pravda" and "Izvestia", and reprinted in some of our newspapers here (Sunday). What the President proposes ("threatens" says the Russian reply) is a surrender by Russia of what she has gained in her highly successful cold war. Russia has gained half the world. That is a large piece of property to give up—without a struggle!

Granted that Russia should put a stop to illegal grabs and the conflicts she has engineered it is realistic to observe that "wars" are not ended by speeches. Notes and speeches did not stop the Kaiser, nor Hitler, nor Tojo. They are unlikely to deter Malenkov, Beria & Company UNLESS a handsome quid pro quo is proffered. Why should Russia give in to get out? What will she gain?

You can see, if you let your mind ruminate over these things, that the whole Russian problem is a long-term proposition. The only short-term angles are those which have to do with "tactics." Russia may play for time here, Red China there, and so on. The give and take (which Lenin preached) are the short-run tactics within the long running strategy.

So, let's not count on "peace" arriving on May 1, or on June 1.

times, take to his bed. In 1939, Faymonville was finally recalled and Colon Hayne became the attache."

Perhaps because of Faymonville's revealed attitude he landed in Moscow with Harriman's lend-lease mission in 1941. Yeaton wanted him to trade lend-lease materials for military information, but the FBI report says Faymonville refused, holding that it was up to the attache to get military information by his own devices.

After his removal as attache in 1939, Faymonville was sent to Boston but soon went to Washingotn and impressed his views of Russia on Roosevelt. Soon after that, however, the War Department sent him to San Francisco as chief ordnance officer of the Fourth Army. The report says he stayed there until Germany invaded Russia but then, according to Yeaton, rushed to Washington and presented himself to Roosevelt as a candidate for the lend-lease job in Russia. The FBI says Eleanor Roosevelt was Faymonville's friend and that he got the job even though the general staff opposed his selection.

Admiral Standley confirms the FBI's version of a dispute between him and Faymonville over the admiral's demand that Faymonville open his private locker in the embassy and let him inspect the contents. Standley insisted that the embassy was government country, and ordered Faymonville to open up. Faymonville did. No contraband was found.

Former Resident Recognizes Son In POW Pictures

Friends of a former Kingstonian were happy today over a news photo showing Mrs. Thomas P. McLoughlin of Elmhurst, Queens, looking at a group picture of prisoners of war on which she thought she recognized her son, Robert J. missing since November 19.

Sullivan Praises Weiners for Work As Fire Volunteers

The members of Weiner Hose Company No. 6 were urged to carry on the tradition of service set by the founders in an address by Joseph F. Sullivan, city historian, at the banquet Tuesday night celebrating the 75th anniversary of the volunteer fire organization.

Approximately 100 Weiner men, members of the Ladies' Auxiliary, and guests attended the dinner held in the social hall of Kingston Lodge, 550, BPO Elks, and heard Historian Sullivan, a 50-year volunteer fireman himself say that "these are occasions to perhaps recapture some of the idealism of the past. I fear in the course of time there has been lost some of the abiding faith of our ancestors; some of the confident reliance on the providence of God, that faith founded on the fatherhood of God and the brotherhood of man, which finds its expression in service. After all, service to mankind is the keystone on which rests the foundation of the volunteer fire system."

Chief Introduces Speaker

Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy in introducing the speaker, said he and Sullivan were friends of many years, and fellow members of Union Hose Company. "His guidance is ever sought by the company," the chief said, and in reference to his thoroughness, Murphy praised the annual report of city events written by Sullivan as one of the most exact and complete on record.

During his remarks, Chief Murphy congratulated Weiner Hose and its auxiliary, and, quoting from a report of an experts survey of the firemanic situation here said, "Kingston could be in bad shape if it were not for the volunteers."

President Fred C. Harder, Sr., welcomed the gathering, praised the members for their cooperation and the ladies of the auxiliary for their aid and consideration. He received a check for the company from the ladies, with a card of congratulations handed to him by Mrs. J. A. Heaney, president of the auxiliary for 24 consecutive years. The amount was $75, indicative of the diamond jubilee.

Mayor Praises Company

Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk, in his speech of congratulation, said "I personally appreciate what Weiner Hose Company has and is doing for the City of Kingston, and my sincere hope is that your service to the community will continue." He also praised the Ladies' Auxiliary for its 28 years of cooperation, since its founding by the late Louis H. Kolts on September 12, 1925.

Among the guests introduced were Deputy Fire Chief Harold Sanford, and Fire Commissioners Harold Van Bramer and Charles Derrenbacher. Members of the company serving on the paid fire department, who took a bow were Philip Ahl, Capt. Edward Murphy, Joseph Disch and Clarence Barber.

Covers Weiner History

Historian Sullivan gave a complete story of Weiner Hose from the time of its organization on April 12, 1878, and how it got its name from two popular merchant brothers Ike and Dick Weiner, and recalled some of the incidents of volunteer fire fighting in the days gone by. He referred to the prize winning parade carriage that the vols proudly pulled in parades, which is now in the museum at the Firemen's Home Museum in Hudson.

Relative to the fire fighting, Sullivan said methods used 75 years ago, when the company was formed, "would be of little value today. But to the old-timers, who remember the ringing of the fire bell, the yelling of volunteers to arouse their fellows was a call to duty that furnished a thrill seldom given by any other call."

"To you younger men," he concluded, "who are maintaining the traditions of the volunteer fire system of Kingston, I say, carry on for yours is a noble heritage and well worth continuing."

Look what inflation has done to telephone trucks

Sure, we know you can't build telephone lines with part of a truck. But this picture is a good way to show how much less truck we would get today for the price we paid in 1940. Inflation has jacked the price up and up—it's now 2½ times what it was a decade or so ago.

All the equipment on the truck costs more, too. In fact, everything that goes into giving you phone service—buildings, cable, poles—has an inflated price tag today.

It's a big job to supply service to all who want it. We are pushing ahead with our big expansion and improvement program as fast as possible, but increased costs have made it the most expensive investment we have ever undertaken. These increased costs have shrunk the dollars we have set aside to replace telephone plant that wears out, but we have not allowed them to interfere with our expansion program.

Everyone feels inflation. Your cost of living is up 89% since 1940. Our costs have soared, too! Yet, during the same period, the average price of telephone service has increased only 15%. Operating efficiencies and technical improvements have narrowed this gap, but they fall far short of closing it.

We think these facts speak for themselves—especially since telephone service today is better than ever before.

How Telephone Company costs have gone up since 1940

| | | | |
|---|---|---|---|
| Lead up | 192% | Cable up | 105% |
| Poles up | 139% | Raw cotton up | 260% |
| Copper up | 119% | Buildings up | 106% |

yet phone service is up an average of only 15%

— more for some, less for others, of course, depending on the type of service and the use made of it.

Steel Management and Labor Start Wage and Price Debate

BY SAM DAWSON

New York, April 29 (AP)—Steel management and labor this week start the big debate on whether there'll be another round of wage and price hikes this year.

The industry in the past has usually been the leader. Whatever spiral it starts generally moved through the rest of the heavy industries.

But with the price trend for most other commodities downward, with the cost of living a little below its peak, and with other unions apparently concentrating more this year on fringe benefits than on big wage boosts, many observers feel that the debate getting under way this week may take a different turn from former years.

The executive board of the CIO United Steelworkers is meeting today to discuss what demands to make when negotiations with management open in June.

Directors of the two largest steel companies—U. S. Steel Corp. and Bethlehem—meet this week, too.

Steel prices are already pushing upward. Three of the largest companies — Bethlehem, Republic and Jones & Laughlin are raising extra charges tacked onto some major steel products. Another big one, Colorado Fuel & Iron, is raising base prices of steel rails, tieplates, joint bars and spikes.

These price increases—first since decontrol—are said by the companies to reflect rising costs which they weren't permitted to pass along under the control law. Others in the industry may follow this lead, regardless of what the coming wage negotiations may bring forth.

Some leaders in the steel industry, however, think that for base prices in general the question won't be settled until after the June wage negotiations. The theory is that a general price increase now would be bad policy while management is trying to hold down wage demands.

Still others question whether the steel industry can make a general price rise stick very long.

Big Demand for Steel

Demand for steel is very high now and the industry says the strong demand will last at least till fall. But steelmen have the example of other metals to watch.

Sharp drops in the price of zinc, lead and tin illustrate how quickly a tight supply situation can change to one of abundance.

Copper is giving them another example of how quickly consumer psychology can change. The demand for copper seemed insatiable as controls ended, and the price shot up—in some cases as much as nine cents a pound. Prices have been backing down recently.

And almost overnight consumers found that the shortage apparently had a time limit. And so consumers stopped ordering just to build up their inventories of copper. They are still buying large amounts of copper for immediate use, but for no great distance ahead.

Even the most optimistic of the copper producers admits the market for his product is likely to be weak this summer.

How much of the present press of orders for steel is also due to inventory building by users is a debatable question. But steelmen admit that when consumers see the day approaching when prompt delivery may be a reality again, the demand can slump as quickly as it has in the case of the other metals. And then steel prices might turn down, too.

These are some of the questions that are being debated this week—both by labor and management: Whether the industry can stand another wage hike without a big price hike; and whether such a price hike would stick.

All heavy industry will be watching the debate.

Grand Union Super Market in Highland

A modern new Grand Union super market opened today in Highland. The Mayor of Highland and several Grand Union officials were on hand for the tape-cutting ceremonies at 9 a. m. The market will remain open until 9 tonight and The Sundowners, a local hillbilly band, will entertain in the store.

Many features have been incorporated to make shopping in the new store convenient and pleasant. Among the departments to be found in the new market will be the following: Food-O-Mat, Meateria, frozen foods, fresh fruit and vegetables, dairy and baked goods.

Key personnel in the store have been transferred from the old Grand Union store in Highland where they held similar positions. Clyde Dallas is grocery manager at the new market. Ray Lucente is the meat manager, and Emmet Greene is produce manager.

A large parking area has been provided adjoining the new market for the convenience of customers. The store will be open from 8:30 a. m. to 6 p. m., every day except Friday, when it will be open until 9 p. m. These are the same hours as observed at the old Highland store.

Conference Opens at Troy

Troy, April 29 (AP)—The first of an expected 500 delegates began arriving today for the opening of the 121st annual session of the Troy Methodit Conference. The conference covers churches in southern New York, Vermont and western Massachusetts. Dr. Frederick B. Newell, resident bishop of the New York area, will preside tonight at the first public session—a memorial service for deceased members. Business sessions begin tomorrow. The conference will continue through Sunday.

Italy produces about 750,000 tons of pasta a year.

Union Gives Charter To Sing Sing Guards

New York, April 29 (AP)—An AFL union says it has issued a charter to guards at Sing Sing Prison at Ossining, N. Y.

The union—the AFL Federation of State, County and Municipal employes — says the charter contains a no-strike clause. The group also claims support by a majority of the 300 guards at the state prison.

Al Wurf, union international representative, disclosed issuance of the charter last night. He said the union will seek wage increases and improvements in job conditions.

The union has other locals of prison guards and police across the nation.

U. S. Steel Joins Others in Raising Prices on Products

New York, April 29 (AP)—The biggest steel producer in the nation, United States Steel Corp., is joining others in the industry in raising "extra" charges on its steel products.

These are charges made to cover the cost of additional operations involved in altering sizes, grades and finishes of steel to meet specific requirements of a steel customer.

Benjamin F. Fairless, U. S. Steel chairman, announced the plan to revise "extras" yesterday, without saying when the changes would be made.

At the same time, he said the corporation "does not contemplate a general increase in base prices at this time."

Fairless indicated any change in base prices would be deferred until after wage negotiations with the Steelworkers Union are concluded. The union yesterday called for a general wage increase without specifying the amount it will ask. It says steelworkers' wages now average $2.06 an hour.

At a news conference following a directors' meeting, fairless in reply to a question about wage demands said "it would seem to me at this point that no wage increase would be justified."

Look what inflation has done to telephone trucks

Sure, we know you can't build telephone lines with part of a truck. But this picture is a good way to show how much less truck we would get today for the price we paid in 1940. Inflation has jacked the price up and up—it's now 2½ times what it was a decade or so ago.

All the equipment on the truck costs more, too. In fact, everything that goes into giving you phone service—buildings, cable, poles—has an inflated price tag today.

It's a big job to supply service to all who want it. We are pushing ahead with our big expansion and improvement program as fast as possible, but increased costs have made it the most expensive investment we have ever undertaken. These increased costs have shrunk the dollars we have set aside to replace telephone plant that wears out, but we have not allowed them to interfere with our expansion program.

Everyone feels inflation. Your cost of living is up 89% since 1940. Our costs have soared, too! Yet, during the same period, the average price of telephone service has increased only 15%. Operating efficiencies and technical improvements have narrowed this gap, but they fall far short of closing it.

We think these facts speak for themselves—especially since telephone service today is better than ever before.

How Telephone Company costs have gone up since 1940

| | | | |
|---|---|---|---|
| Lead up | 192% | Cable up | 105% |
| Poles up | 139% | Raw cotton up | 260% |
| Copper up | 119% | Buildings up | 106% |

yet phone service is up an average of only 15%

—more for some, less for others, of course, depending on the type of service and the use made of it.

Steel Management and Labor Start Wage and Price Debate

BY SAM DAWSON

New York, April 29 (AP)—Steel management and labor this week start the big debate on whether there'll be another round of wage and price hikes this year.

The industry in the past has usually been the leader. Whatever spiral it starts generally moved through the rest of the heavy industries.

But with the price trend for most other commodities downward, with the cost of living a little below its peak, and with other unions apparently concentrating more this year on fringe benefits than on big wage boosts, many observers feel that the debate getting under way this week may take a different turn from former years.

The executive board of the CIO United Steelworkers is meeting today to discuss what demands to make when negotiations with management open in June.

Directors of the two largest steel companies—U. S. Steel Corp. and Bethlehem—meet this week, too.

Steel prices are already pushing upward. Three of the largest companies—Bethlehem, Republic and Jones & Laughlin are raising extra charges tacked onto some major steel products. Another big one, Colorado Fuel & Iron, is raising base prices of steel rails, tieplates, joint bars and spikes.

These price increases—first since decontrol—are said by the companies to reflect rising costs which they weren't permitted to pass along under the control law. Others in the industry may follow this lead, regardless of what the coming wage negotiations may bring forth.

Some leaders in the steel industry, however, think that for base prices in general the question won't be settled until after the June wage negotiations. The theory is that a general price increase now would be bad policy while management is trying to hold down wage demands.

Still others question whether the steel industry can make a general price rise stick very long.

Big Demand for Steel

Demand for steel is very high now and the industry says the strong demand will last at least till fall. But steelmen have the example of other metals to watch.

Sharp drops in the price of zinc, lead and tin illustrate how quickly a tight supply situation can change to one of abundance.

Copper is giving them another example of how quickly consumer psychology can change. The demand for copper seemed insatiable as controls ended, and the price shot up—in some cases as much as nine cents a pound. Prices have been backing down recently.

And almost overnight consumers found that the shortage apparently had a time limit. And so consumers stopped ordering just to build up their inventories of copper. They are still buying large amounts of copper for immediate use, but for no great distance ahead.

Even the most optimistic of the copper producers admits the market for his product is likely to be weak this summer.

How much of the present press of orders for steel is also due to inventory building by users is a debatable question. But steelmen admit that when consumers see the day approaching when prompt delivery may be a reality again, the demand can slump as quickly as it has in the case of the other metals. And then steel prices might turn down, too.

These are some of the questions that are being debated this week—both by labor and management: Whether the industry can stand another wage hike without a big price hike; and whether such a price hike would stick.

All heavy industry will be watching the debate.

Grand Union Super Market in Highland

A modern new Grand Union super market opened today in Highland. The Mayor of Highland and several Grand Union officials were on hand for the tape-cutting ceremonies at 9 a. m. The market will remain open until 9 tonight and The Sundowners, a local hillbilly band, will entertain in the store.

Many features have been incorporated to make shopping in the new store convenient and pleasant. Among the departments to be found in the new market will be the following: Food-O-Mat, Meateria, frozen foods, fresh fruit and vegetables, dairy and baked goods.

Key personnel in the store have been transferred from the old Grand Union store in Highland where they held similar positions. Clyde Dallas is grocery manager at the new market. Ray Lucente is the meat manager, and Emmet Greene is produce manager.

A large parking area has been provided adjoining the new market for the convenience of customers. The store will be open from 8:30 a. m. to 6 p. m., every day except Friday, when it will be open until 9 p. m. These are the same hours as observed at the old Highland store.

Conference Opens at Troy

Troy, April 29 (AP)—The first of an expected 500 delegates began arriving today for the opening of the 121st annual session of the Troy Methodit Conference. The conference covers churches in southern New York, Vermont and western Massachusetts. Dr. Frederick B. Newell, resident bishop of the New York area, will preside tonight at the first public session—a memorial service for deceased members. Business sessions begin tomorrow. The conference will continue through Sunday.

Italy produces about 750,000 tons of pasta a year.

Union Gives Charter To Sing Sing Guards

New York, April 29 (AP)—An AFL union says it has issued a charter to guards at Sing Sing Prison at Ossining, N. Y.

The union—the AFL Federation of State, County and Municipal employes — says the charter contains a no-strike clause. The group also claims support by a majority of the 300 guards at the state prison.

Al Wurf, union international representative, disclosed issuance of the charter last night. He said the union will seek wage increases and improvements in job conditions.

The union has other locals of prison guards and police across the nation.

U. S. Steel Joins Others in Raising Prices on Products

New York, April 29 (AP)—The biggest steel producer in the nation, United States Steel Corp., is joining others in the industry in raising "extra" charges on its steel products.

These are charges made to cover the cost of additional operations involved in altering sizes, grades and finishes of steel to meet specific requirements of a steel customer.

Benjamin F. Fairless, U. S. Steel chairman, announced the plan to revise "extras" yesterday, without saying when the changes would be made.

At the same time, he said the corporation "does not contemplate a general increase in base prices at this time."

Fairless indicated any change in base prices would be deferred until after wage negotiations with the Steelworkers Union are concluded. The union yesterday called for a general wage increase without specifying the amount it will ask. It says steelworkers' wages now average $2.06 an hour.

At a news conference following a directors' meeting, fairless in reply to a question about wage demands said "it would seem to me at this point that no wage increase would be justified."

Supervisors Vote

chasing of a lot of food and the feeding of a lot of people. If that is the qualifications which the politicians required of their candidates running for election, what would be the qualification standards sought in a man who was to be appointed to office, the speaker asked. McClain said appointment to office was heading toward dictatorship and taking the power of election away from the people deprived the people of expression of their desires. He held that appointment of the commissioner by the board would not tend to increase the qualifications but could tend to lower the qualifications through political reward to some person who might not have the qualifications desired for the office.

Plunket Appears

Thomas J. Plunket, county chairman of the Democratic party, spoke of the seriousness of the problem. He said there had been criticism of the election of a president for three terms, a governor of New York had been elected three terms but those elections had been by the wish of the people. He said political offices should remain in the elective category, with the man in office elected by the will of the people. It is true that political leaders now select or choose the men to become candidates and not always the best man is selected but at least the people have the choice of two men to vote for. In Ulster county at the present time the selection of two men for an office, however does not mean much since the Republican party dominates, but, he said some time it may make a difference. By appointing the commissioner he said one of the rights of the people was being taken from them. He said the office of commissioner of welfare should "remain out of politics" and said appointment could be used as a "whip" to make voters vote the way the "donors" who had the appointment in their power desired. Plunket said he was not reflecting on the present administration or the qualifications or work of Commissioner Edward Murray, but he said what the future held was not known.

Reid Favors Action

Dr. Robert Reid of New Paltz, physician at the County Home for 19 years and prior to that for three years engaged in welfare work in Newburgh, was next speaking in favor of the appointive provision of the law. Dr. Reid spoke on the matter of "qualification." He said the only qualification of the voter who elects the commissioner now is that he be 21 years old and a citizen. In the welfare office even the lowest position held, the holder must have certain qualifications. Welfare workers must have special training, degrees from educational institutions and yet all the qualifications now required by the commissioner is that he be a "handshaker" and be able to gather votes. He said he had confidence enough in the board of supervisors which is an elected body to believe that board would seek a qualified man for the position of commissioner. Under the present set-up a man elected to the office spends much of the three-year term learning the job. If a qualified man were to be appointed he could give his time to the job and so long as he continued to produce he could remain on the job rendering efficient service. The elective set up requires election of a commissioner every three years and his qualifications now are simply that he be 21 years old, a citizen and a resident.

John Grady, president of the Town of Esopus Taxpayers' Association, Inc., in addition to representing his own association spoke for the Saugerties Taxpayers' Association, Inc., Ellenville Taxpayers' Association, Hurley Taxpayers' Association, Plattekill Township Civic Association, Inc., and as a taxpayer himself. As representative of about 1250 people, he said they had conferred with the Public Expenditures Survey in Albany in order to clarify the merits of the contemplated change. Five other counties in the state have already adopted the plan and have been successful in securing efficient, capable and qualified administrative appointees. He said they therefore favor adoption of the appointive system.

Asks Recommendations

He requested that the following recommendations be inserted in the minutes of the hearing:

"1—The taxpayer groups within Ulster county will carefully review the qualifications of any contemplated appointee to the office of welfare commissioner to assure themselves that such contemplated appointee will have the administrative ability necessary to direct competent and efficient departmental employes and to take every possible step to improve upon the welfare situation that now exists within Ulster county.

"2—The stigmatism that has developed in the minds of the public regarding political appointees must be removed in order to prevent unrest and dissatisfaction. Political patronage must not enter when considering the qualifications of an appointee. We must not be penny wise and dollar foolish. It is of primary importance that the Board of Supervisors of this county, offer adequate incentive, in the form of compensation, so that capable and trained administrative specialists will seek the position of welfare commissioner."

In closing he noted that inefficiency and mismanagement of public funds in the past have been due to negligence and carelessness on the part of administrative officers who are mere figureheads in their official positions. He said the taxpayer groups, as in the past, would continue to act as individuals, as taxpayers groups, and as the "watchdogs of our tax dollars."

Asks 'Career Men'

George Yerry, Jr., representing "several thousand" AFL members, mostly of the working class, asked that the position be filled by "career" men and not as political patronage. He pointed out that the Board of Supervisors now appoints the Health Commissioner, a responsible job, the county superintendent of highways and "we have kept qualified men on the job for a period of many years." He said the commissioner of welfare is now elected by the voters, still the power of appropriating money for the position lies in the hands of the Board of Supervisors. Appointment of the commissioner and the appropriation of funds by the same board would make one body responsible for the department. He said the welfare officers were appointed in many localities and cited that the New York State Commissioner of Welfare is appointed. He said under the appointive system a more efficient and better qualified man could be secured and there would be better supervision and less loss.

Mrs. Thorbort Ellison of New Paltz spoke in favor. She referred to the statements that the rights of the people were being taken from them by the appointive system. She called attention to the fact that the voters would continue to elect the supervisors who would be responsible for the appointment and the people could speak through selection of the members of the board of supervisors.

Snyder Lauds Murray

Dr. Fred Snyder of Kingston said he had seen commissioners come and go, few had made the job a full time job until Edward Murray came into office. He devotes his entire time to the job. He said through medical science people were living longer, people as they grew older would need more care and the job of welfare commissioner was a growing job. A man to properly administer this big job should be qualified, he could not leave the administration to subordinates. He held a qualified man should be secured and kept on the job for a period of years or, "as long as he does a good job." He said appointment could be left to the men we elect to the board of supervisors.

Mrs. Lee Rognon of Plattekill said she did not believe the people had sufficient notice of the public hearing and had greater time been allowed to discuss the matter and explain the matter there would be less opposition. When people don't understand a problem they "go against it," she said.

Board Convenes

Following adjournment of the public hearing the board of supervisors went into caucus and at 9:30 convened.

After routine business had been disposed of Supervisor Wilson moved the office of Commissioner of Public Welfare be an appointive one at the expiration of the present three-year term.

Supervisor George of Denning was recognized and said he disagreed with statements of Mr. Yerry regarding labor unions. He said another county office had been an appointive one and he referred to county superintendent of highways. In May, 1947, a request had been made by the county superintendent for $20,000 for abutments for a bridge at Sundown. The board authorized this. Next year the county superintendent had asked for approval of plans and for power to advertise for bids for the bridge.

To date $20,000 had been spent for the abutments and $2,000 for rights of way. All there was to show for it was the two abutments and the old bridge had been strengthened with a Bailey bridge which was dangerous. He cited some 20 people whose motor vehicles had been damaged at the bridge.

"This is a sample of appointive office," he said. He said important offices should be filled by election by the people and he voted "No."

Following the 17 aye to three no vote, Supervisor Eckert of Esopus spoke on the remarks of Supervisor George. He said he felt the remarks were out of order. He said George seemed to think the board was lax in its duty. As elective officers he said he believed the supervisors, entrusted with a great trust, realized it and he commended the county superintendent of highways for the work on highways in his town. He said if the trust imposed on the supervisors was carried out honestly and fairly, appointment of the welfare commissioner would result in a good selection.

Supervisor Gaffney of Lloyd asked if it would be out of place to ask the Committee on Highway Superintendent to consult with Loughran and find out what the problem with the Sundown bridge was and report back at the next meeting. Chairman Denniston said that recommendation would be accepted.

Supervisor Wilson moved that when the board adjourned it do so out of respect to the memory of the late Judge John T. Loughran of the Court of Appeals, a man of great humility, highly respected and honored throughout the state and nation, a great jurist and true gentleman.

Supervisor Gaffney seconded the motion and the board stood in silent tribute for a moment to the memory of Judge Loughran.

Vote Is Withdrawn

A resolution to authorize sale of a $213,000 bond issue to replace bridges damaged in recent floods was presented and adopted but later was withdrawn when it was found a two-thirds vote was not possible, since only 20 supervisors were present.

A transfer of funds from a truck purchase appropriation toward the purchase of a new excavator was made. The original appropriation was to purchase two dump trucks but the excavator, purchased in 1930 is outmoded and parts cannot be secured. The cost of the excavator shall not exceed $25,000.

By a vote of 16 to 4 it was agreed to again have the I.B.M. prepare the tax rolls and make out tax bills. Voting against the resolution was Supervisors Albrecht, Carroll, Gaffney and George.

A report of the annual inspection of the county jail, was received and filed. The report showed the jail in good condition. Recommendations were again made that visiting rooms be installed, that the fourth floor cell section be completed and that new toilets be installed in the women's section.

It was announced that Supervisor Fitchner of Shandaken had lost his father and the board on motion stood adjourned, subject to the call of the chair, out of respect to the memory of Judge Loughran and the father of Supervisor George Fichtner.

Old-Fashioned Coffee Promised in Machine

Philadelphia, April 29 (AP)—A vending machine which serves coffee brewed the old-fashioned way will make its debut soon in several large cities.

Jack Berssin, president of the ABC Vending Co., announced yesterday a new so-called "perkomatic" machine using freshly-ground coffee will be installed in the next few weeks in Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington and other cities.

The machine is geared to make more than 400 cups of coffee through a series of synchronized percolators. As one percolator drops below the 15-cup mark, another percolator is set in operation automatically.

Berssin said all coffee vending machines in operation now use coffee concentrates or coffee in pellet-form.

Old-Fashioned Coffee Promised in Machine

Philadelphia, April 29 (AP)—A vending machine which serves coffee brewed the old-fashioned way will make its debut soon in several large cities.

Jack Berssin, president of the ABC Vending Co., announced yesterday a new so-called "perkomatic" machine using freshly-ground coffee will be installed in the next few weeks in Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington and other cities.

The machine is geared to make more than 400 cups of coffee through a series of synchronized percolators. As one percolator drops below the 15-cup mark, another percolator is set in operation automatically.

Berssin said all coffee vending machines in operation now use coffee concentrates or coffee in pellet-form.

Action Settled

Ferraro and Oneonta Ace Will Roll in $1,000 Match

20-Game Doubles Open Here Saturday

Plans for a $1000, 20-game doubles challenge bowling match involving keglers from Oneonta, Utica and Kingston were announced today by Johnny Ferraro.

The Bowlodrome proprietor will team up with Harry Sinstack of Oneonta against a pair of Utica hotshots—Roger Detore and Joe Cariglio.

First block of 10 games is scheduled Saturday, May 2, at 7:30 p. m. at the Ferraro Bowlodrome in Kingston, with the second block at the Utica Recreation on Sunday at 7:30 p. m.

The match will be on a total pinnage basis.

Pair of "200" Shooters

Sinstack is one of Oneonta's best bowlers with good reputation for match game competition, while Detore and Cariglio are both 200-average shooters in Utica.

Ferraro has just completed a sensational season in the Hudson Valley League, averaging more than 201 and firing the all-time record of 818.

The clash will mark the first major match game competition in Kingston since Ferraro squared off with Tony Sparando of New York in 1947.

The public is invited and there will be no admission charge.

Dancer Drives Five Winners at Yonkers

Yonkers, April 29 (AP)—Stanley Dancer drove four winners at Yonkers Raceway last night. In a fifth race he finished second, thus missing the opportunity to tie his five-for-five record established in 1951.

He started out by winning the first three races with Ensign's Pride $4.60, Knight's Princess, $5.70, and Osborne Hanover, $4.60. Ensign's Pride and Knights' Princess combined for a $19 daily double.

His top race came in the seventh when he snaked through on the rail in the last sixteenth to win with Mighty Sassy ($11.00) a converted pacer making its second start as a trotter.

The 25-year-old Dancer drove three winners at Yonkers last April 20.

Tommy Collins Dropped To Tenth Rating in Lightweight Division

New York, April 29 (AP)—Tommy Collins has been dropped from second to tenth among the lightweight contenders in Ring Magazine's monthly ratings as the result of his colossal flop against champion Jimmy Carter last Friday.

For his victory over the China-chinned Bostonian, Carter was named fighter of the month.

Danny Nardico's upset defeat by Larry Watson pushed the Tampa light heavyweight down from third to fifth in the 175-pound class. The surprise triumph moved Watson of Omaha, into the top flight for the first time. He was ranked seventh.

Lulu Perez's victory over Corky Gonzales placed the 20-year old Brooklyn featherweight into the tenth spot—his first ranking berth. Gonzales, of Denver, was dropped from the fifth spot to eighth.

Tommy Harrison, who was ranked as the fifth contender among the light heavies, was shifted to the No. 6 spot among the heavyweights.

In the championless middleweight class, Paddy Young of New York jumped from tenth to fifth as the result of his victory over Ernie Durando.

$3,850 Reported In Y Fund Drive

The initial report night for the YMCA's annual financial campaign disclosed $3,850.25, to date, James E. Tobin, general chairman, has announced.

Two of last year's outstanding "Y" workers are leading this year's workers with with pledges and money reported.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Smith reported over $400 in the general campaign and they said that they were not half finished. Blanche Burr, another stalwart "Y" canvasser, is a close second. Other workers all made good reports.

Herb DeKay, chairman of the initial gifts committee, reported that the board of directors and their special committee are reaching their prospects, but had little tabulation on their total solicitation. DeKay said "If every person making contacts with the private home can receive a good contribution and every person solicited, the drive will be successful," Tobin said "The general and open campaign around the city going from door-to-door is what counts because the initial gifts group will make good with industry and business."

The next report meeting will be Thursday, April 30, at the YMCA Headquarters at 7:30 p. m. All workers are asked to make a report of their progress to date. That means, says Lou Schafer, staff financial drive advisor, only seven days before the close of the campaign. He said that there is a lot of work still to be done and he urges all workers to keep at it strong and see all their prospects before the closing date of the drive.

Plans for the 1953 Cerebral Palsy campaign in the Town of Esopus got underway when a group of interested persons met recently at the home of Mrs. James Dunbar to discuss raising funds for the drive which opens officially May 14. Acting as chairman was Mrs. Dunbar and as co-chairman, Mrs. George Clark, vice-president of the county CP group, who gave a brief history of the origin of the local organization. Mrs. Charlotte Peck, executive director of the Cerebral Palsy Treatment Center in Kingston, was guest speaker. She explained that cerebral palsy is not a disease but a crippling condition caused by damage to the motor area of the brain. There is no known cure but she said with proper treatment the palsied child can, in many cases, become self-sufficient and useful members of society. The treatment includes physical, occupational and speech therapy. Both PT and speech are now being given at the Center where two full-time therapists are employed, Mrs. Peck said. It is the hope that sufficient funds will be raised during this year's campaign to provide a much-needed occupational therapist and also some form of transportation for patients in the outlying districts. Mrs. Peck also said that of the 70 children now being treated at the clinic two are from Port Ewen. Also present were Mrs. Martin Nilan, Jack Spinnenweber and Harry Van Ormer, Port Ewen; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Graves, New Salem; Mr. and Mrs. Martin Jordan, Jr., St. Remy; Ed Eckert, Rifton; Mrs. Hanley, Sleightsburg; Ernest Ryan and William Daum, Union Center and Mrs. Richard Gendreau, Ulster Park. Another meeting of all the workers to be held at the town hall will be announced.

A movie also was shown depicting children in various stages of cerebral palsy and treatments used successfully in combatting the disease. Mrs. Cleon Robinson, president, presided at the business meeting. Room 4 has taken its educational trip to New York while the other rooms are planning to go in May. The association finances the transportation for these trips. The school picnic will be held Wednesday, June 3. The spring program will be presented May 8 at the town hall. The next meeting will be held May 27. During the social hour refreshments were served by Principal Robert Graves and his committee. Room 1, Mrs. Ellsworth, teacher, won the award for having the most parents attending the meeting.

The Port Ewen Fife, Drum and Bugle Corps will hold a drill practice at Hercules Powder Company Thursday at 7:30 p. m. The drill will be held at the State Armory, Kingston, in case of inclement weather.

Ferraro and Oneonta Ace Will Roll in $1,000 Match

20-Game Doubles Open Here Saturday

Plans for a $1000, 20-game doubles challenge bowling match involving keglers from Oneonta, Utica and Kingston were announced today by Johnny Ferraro.

The Bowlodrome proprietor will team up with Harry Sinstack of Oneonta against a pair of Utica hotshots—Roger Detore and Joe Cariglio.

First block of 10 games is scheduled Saturday, May 2, at 7:30 p. m. at the Ferraro Bowlodrome in Kingston, with the second block at the Utica Recreation on Sunday at 7:30 p. m.

The match will be on a total pinnage basis.

Pair of "200" Shooters

Sinstack is one of Oneonta's best bowlers with good reputation for match game competition, while Detore and Cariglio are both 200-average shooters in Utica.

Ferraro has just completed a sensational season in the Hudson Valley League, averaging more than 201 and firing the all-time record of 818.

The clash will mark the first major match game competition in Kingston since Ferraro squared off with Tony Sparando of New York in 1947.

The public is invited and there will be no admission charge.

Dancer Drives Five Winners at Yonkers

Yonkers, April 29 (AP)—Stanley Dancer drove four winners at Yonkers Raceway last night. In a fifth race he finished second, thus missing the opportunity to tie his five-for-five record established in 1951.

He started out by winning the first three races with Ensign's Pride $4.60, Knight's Princess, $5.70, and Osborne Hanover, $4.60. Ensign's Pride and Knights' Princess combined for a $19 daily double.

His top race came in the seventh when he snaked through on the rail in the last sixteenth to win with Mighty Sassy ($11.00) a converted pacer making its second start as a trotter.

The 25-year-old Dancer drove three winners at Yonkers last April 20.

Tommy Collins Dropped To Tenth Rating in Lightweight Division

New York, April 29 (AP)—Tommy Collins has been dropped from second to tenth among the lightweight contenders in Ring Magazine's monthly rating as the result of his colossal flop against champion Jimmy Carter last Friday.

For his victory over the China-chinned Bostonian, Carter was named fighter of the month.

Danny Nardico's upset defeat by Larry Watson pushed the Tampa light heavyweight down from third to fifth in the 175-pound class. The surprise triumph moved Watson of Omaha, into the top flight for the first time. He was ranked seventh.

Lulu Perez's victory over Corky Gonzales placed the 20-year old Brooklyn featherweight into the tenth spot—his first ranking berth. Gonzales, of Denver, was dropped from the fifth spot to eighth.

Tommy Harrison, who was ranked as the fifth contender among the light heavies, was shifted to the No. 6 spot among the heavyweights.

In the championless middleweight class, Paddy Young of New York jumped from tenth to fifth as the result of his victory over Ernie Durando.

Two Students Expelled

$3,850 Reported In Y Fund Drive

The initial report night for the YMCA's annual financial campaign disclosed $3,850.25, to date, James E. Tobin, general chairman, has announced.

Two of last year's outstanding "Y" workers are leading this year's workers with with pledges and money reported.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Smith reported over $400 in the general campaign and they said that they were not half finished. Blanche Burr, another stalwart "Y" canvasser, is a close second. Other workers all made good reports.

Herb DeKay, chairman of the initial gifts committee, reported that the board of directors and their special committee are reaching their prospects, but had little tabulation on their total solicitation. DeKay said "If every person making contacts with the private home can receive a good contribution and every person solicited, the drive will be successful," Tobin said "The general and open campaign around the city going from door-to-door is what counts because the initial gifts group will make good with industry and business."

The next report meeting will be Thursday, April 30, at the YMCA Headquarters at 7:30 p. m. All workers are asked to make a report of their progress to date. That means, says Lou Schafer, staff financial drive advisor, only seven days before the close of the campaign. He said that there is a lot of work still to be done and he urges all workers to keep at it strong and see all their prospects before the closing date of the drive.

Plans for the 1953 Cerebral Palsy campaign in the Town of Esopus got underway when a group of interested persons met recently at the home of Mrs. James Dunbar to discuss raising funds for the drive which opens officially May 14. Acting as chairman was Mrs. Dunbar and as co-chairman, Mrs. George Clark, vice-president of the county CP group, who gave a brief history of the origin of the local organization. Mrs. Charlotte Peck, executive director of the Cerebral Palsy Treatment Center in Kingston, was guest speaker. She explained that cerebral palsy is not a disease but a crippling condition caused by damage to the motor area of the brain. There is no known cure but she said with proper treatment the palsied child can, in many cases, become self-sufficient and useful members of society. The treatment includes physical, occupational and speech therapy. Both PT and speech are now being given at the Center where two full-time therapists are employed, Mrs. Peck said. It is the hope that sufficient funds will be raised during this year's campaign to provide a much-needed occupational therapist and also some form of transportation for patients in the outlying districts. Mrs. Peck also said that of the 70 children now being treated at the clinic two are from Port Ewen. Also present were Mrs. Martin Nilan, Jack Spinnenweber and Harry Van Ormer, Port Ewen; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Graves, New Salem; Mr. and Mrs. Martin Jordan, Jr., St. Remy; Ed Eckert, Rifton; Mrs. Hanley, Sleightsburg; Ernest Ryan and William Daum, Union Center and Mrs. Richard Gendreau, Ulster Park. Another meeting of all the workers to be held at the town hall will be announced.

A movie also was shown depicting children in various stages of cerebral palsy and treatments used successfully in combatting the disease. Mrs. Cleon Robinson, president, presided at the business meeting. Room 4 has taken its educational trip to New York while the other rooms are planning to go in May. The association finances the transportation for these trips. The school picnic will be held Wednesday, June 3. The spring program will be presented May 8 at the town hall. The next meeting will be held May 27. During the social hour refreshments were served by Principal Robert Graves and his committee. Room 1, Mrs. Ellsworth, teacher, won the award for having the most parents attending the meeting.

The Port Ewen Fife, Drum and Bugle Corps will hold a drill practice at Hercules Powder Company Thursday at 7:30 p. m. The drill will be held at the State Armory, Kingston, in case of inclement weather.

Game Held Up 17 Minutes in Rhubarb

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Baseball was recovering today from as wild and wooly a night as ever took place in the major leagues.

In St. Louis, the Browns and Yankees engaged in a free-for-all and the fans bombarded the players with pop bottles and beer cans in the most riotous diamond scene since the final game of the 1934 World Series. After order was restored, the Yankees tripped the Browns, 7-6, to regain the lead in the American League.

In Philadelphia the St. Louis Cardinals snapped the Phillies' eight-game winning streak, 6-5, as the Redbirds' Peanuts Lowrey came through for the fifth straight time in a pinch hit role. Each side used five pitchers.

In Cleveland Bobby Schantz proved he was back on the beam, pitching and batting the Philadelphia Athletics to a 3-2 triumph over the Indians. Shantz spun an eight-hitter and drove in two runs to end the Indians' five-game winning streak and knock them out of first place.

Busby Still Hot

In Chicago, Washington outfielder Jim Busby racked up his second straight four-hit day but it failed to prevent the White Sox from nipping the Senators, 5-4. Cuban Mike Fornieles, traded away from Washington last winter, earned the decision over his former mates. Fifteen Washington runners were left on base.

In Brooklyn, southpaw Kenny Raffensberger of Cincinnati tried for the 20th time since 1944 to defeat the Dodgers in a starting role—and failed again. Preacher Roe hurled the Brooks to a 5-1 triumph. It was Brooklyn's 32nd success over Raffy in 40 decisions.

In New York, the Giants collected 11 hits and drew four walks off righthander Max Surkont but scored only one run as the Milwaukee Braves whipped Leo Durocher's darlings, 4-1. The Braves made only six hits but four went for extra bases.

Leonard Saves Cubs

In Pittsburgh, 43-year-old Dutch Leonard, oldest player in the National League, retired three fuzz-faced Pirates in a brilliant ninth inning relief job to preserve the Chicago Cubs' 5-3 victory. It was the Cubs' fourth straight victory and moved them to within a game and a half of the National League leading Phillies.

The Yankee-Brownie free-for-all developed when St. Louis catcher Clint Courtney, an ex-Yankee, singled in the 10th, tried to stretch it into a double and slid hard into Phil Rizzuto, upsetting the Yankee shortstop.

Yankee second baseman Billy Martin, an old antagonist of Courtney's, followed by slugging the Brownie catcher. Players from both benches swarmed out on the field and the free-for-all was on.

The game was delayed 17 minutes as numerous fans among the 13,463 cash customers began hurling bottles, cans and other missiles, most of them directed at Yankee left fielder Gene Woodling, their nearest target.

The Yankees scored the winning run in the top of the 10th when Gil McDougald, on second following a double, raced all the way home on a force play at second. The throw from Bill Hunter to the plate had him beat but McDougald crashed into Courtney, knocked the glasses off the catcher's face and the ball out of his hands. The fiery Courtney, who engaged in a couple of battles with Yankee players last summer, retaliated by crashing into Rizzuto a few moments later.

Piersall tried to make second after grounding to Tigers shortstop Harvey Kuenn, background, who threw wild to first. Catcher Matt Batts, backing up play, threw to Friend to nab Piersall. Umpire is Bill McKinley. Bosox won, 2-0. (AP Wirephoto).

Davey 4-1 Over Sammy Giuliani

Detroit, April 29 (AP)—Chuck Davey is a 4 to 1 favorite to whip Sammy Giuliani tonight in the first of his fight-a-month campaign to squeeze back into the welterweight title picture.

The Lansing, Mich., school teacher is expected to jab, stab and dance past his younger, brawling opponent in their nationally televised 10-rounder at 10 p. m. (EDT).

But more important, Davey will be seeking to erase the spectre of that nightmarish evening in Chicago Stadium last February when Kid Gavilan, the welterweight champion, smashed him to the canvas four times, bruised his pride, shocked millions of televisers, and won by a technical knockout in the 10th round.

Now Davey, a proud man, is trying to bounce back.

Giuliani is a rugged body-puncher from Stamford, Conn., A stablemate of Rocky Marciano, he is only 20 but he's had 36 professional fights. He has won 28, lost seven and drew once. Davey's record is 37-1-2.

Dark Star Wins The Derby Trial

Louisville, Ky., April 29 (AP)—A dark star cast a shadow over the Kentucky Derby horizon today but failed to dim prospects of Native Dancer and Correspondent as the two horses most likely to succeed in Saturday's 79th running of the $100,000 added three-year-old turf classic.

When Dark Star from Harry F. Guggenheim's New York-owned Cain Hoy Stable came pounding down the stretch to win yesterday's mile Derby Trial in the fine time of 1:36, there was much talk among trainers and owners.

But it was mostly talk, for it was difficult to find anybody who would predict the Cain Hoy colt might be able to give the Dancer or Correspondent a serious argument when the distance lengthens to a mile and one-quarter at 4:30 p. m. Eastern Standard Time, Saturday.

Only One Bad Day

Warren Hacker, whose 1952 earned-run-average of 2.58 was second only to Hoyt Wilhelm's league-leading 2.43, actually lost the NL ERA title on his last start. Giving his only off-performance of the entire season, the 28-year-old Cub righthander was knocked out on September 26 by the Cardinals who racked him for seven runs in five innings.

'We Can Handle Those Tough Guys' Says Ole Case

But He Had His Bat In Hand Saying It

St. Louis, April 29 (AP)—Tempers flared during a general free-for-all here last night as the New York Yankees downed the St. Louis Browns in 10 innings 7-6.

Fans showered the field with pop bottles, causing a 17-minute delay in the game.

It all started this way in the Brownie half of the 10th inning with the St. Louis club trailing by one run.

Catcher Clint Courtney singled and tried to stretch his rightfield hit into a double. He slid into Phil Rizzuto at second base, knocking the pint-sized infielder almost out to the outfield grass.

Then Yankee players closed in on Courtney, who just the inning before had the ball knocked out of his hands by Gil McDougald who slid home for the potential winning run. Courtney's glasses were knocked off on the play at the plate.

Blames Reynolds

Courtney, after the game, told one sportswriter it was pitcher Allie Reynolds who hit him first at second base. Next came McDougald, followed by Billy Martin and Bob Cerv. It first appeared from the press box that Martin had struck the opening blow. Another writer said Reynolds missed on his punch.

By this time, both benches were cleared of players and all were around second base taking part in a general free-for-all.

Fans began throwing pop bottles onto the field. Those in the left field bleachers continued the barrage when umpires first tried to resume play. The Yankee bullpen crew was forced to seek cover.

Yankee left fielder Gene Woodling refused to take his position there until the bottle throwing stopped.

Threaten Forfeit

It finally took an appeal over the public address system by Brownie Manager Marty Marion and Umpire Bill Summers to stop the bottle throwing. Summers threatened to forfeit the game to the Yankees unless the exhibition stopped.

No players on either team were thrown out of the game for the incident. Courtney hurt his right wrist during the fight and Rizzuto suffered spike wounds on his right ankle and shin.

Yankee Manager Casey Stengel, who left the field with a bat in his hands, commented: "We can handle those tough guys."

Brownie pilot Marion observed: "Wasn't that the durnedest thing you ever saw."

There's been no love lost between the two clubs. Last season Courtney and Martin were involved in a fight in New York after a sliding and tagging incident.

During the excitement last night umpire John Stevens' shoulder popped out of place as he was trying to separate the players. Brownie trainer Bob Bauman snapped it back in place on the field.

After the game Courtney said, 'if those guys are going to charge into me they can expect the same thing from me."

Davey 4-1 Over Sammy Giuliani

Detroit, April 29 (AP)—Chuck Davey is a 4 to 1 favorite to whip Sammy Giuliani tonight in the first of his fight-a-month campaign to squeeze back into the welterweight title picture.

The Lansing, Mich., school teacher is expected to jab, stab and dance past his younger, brawling opponent in their nationally televised 10-rounder at 10 p. m. (EDT).

But more important, Davey will be seeking to erase the spectre of that nightmarish evening in Chicago Stadium last February when Kid Gavilan, the welterweight champion, smashed him to the canvas four times, bruised his pride, shocked millions of televisers, and won by a technical knockout in the 10th round.

Now Davey, a proud man, is trying to bounce back.

Giuliani is a rugged bodypuncher from Stamford, Conn., A stablemate of Rocky Marciano, he is only 20 but he's had 36 professional fights. He has won 28, lost seven and drew once. Davey's record is 37-1-2.

Dark Star Wins The Derby Trial

Louisville, Ky., April 29 (AP)—A dark star cast a shadow over the Kentucky Derby horizon today but failed to dim prospects of Native Dancer and Correspondent as the two horses most likely to succeed in Saturday's 79th running of the $100,000 added three-year-old turf classic.

When Dark Star from Harry F. Guggenheim's New York-owned Cain Hoy Stable came pounding down the stretch to win yesterday's mile Derby Trial in the fine time of 1:36, there was much talk among trainers and owners.

But it was mostly talk, for it was difficult to find anybody who would predict the Cain Hoy colt might be able to give the Dancer or Correspondent a serious argument when the distance lengthens to a mile and one-quarter at 4:30 p. m. Eastern Standard Time, Saturday.

Only One Bad Day

Warren Hacker, whose 1952 earned-run-average of 2.58 was second only to Hoyt Wilhelm's league-leading 2.43, actually lost the NL ERA title on his last start. Giving his only off-performance of the entire season, the 28-year-old Cub righthander was knocked out on September 26 by the Cardinals who racked him for seven runs in five innings.

Distributing Muscle

'We Can Handle Those Tough Guys' Says Ole Case

But He Had His Bat In Hand Saying It

St. Louis, April 29 (AP)—Tempers flared during a general free-for-all here last night as the New York Yankees downed the St. Louis Browns in 10 innings 7-6.

Fans showered the field with pop bottles, causing a 17-minute delay in the game.

It all started this way in the Brownie half of the 10th inning with the St. Louis club trailing by one run.

Catcher Clint Courtney singled and tried to stretch his rightfield hit into a double. He slid into Phil Rizzuto at second base, knocking the pint-sized infielder almost out to the outfield grass.

Then Yankee players closed in on Courtney, who just the inning before had the ball knocked out of his hands by Gil McDougald who slid home for the potential winning run. Courtney's glasses were knocked off on the play at the plate.

Blames Reynolds

Courtney, after the game, told one sportswriter it was pitcher Allie Reynolds who hit him first at second base. Next came McDougald, followed by Billy Martin and Bob Cerv. It first appeared from the press box that Martin had struck the opening blow. Another writer said Reynolds missed on his punch.

By this time, both benches were cleared of players and all were around second base taking part in a general free-for-all.

Fans began throwing pop bottles onto the field. Those in the left field bleachers continued the barrage when umpires first tried to resume play. The Yankee bullpen crew was forced to seek cover.

Yankee left fielder Gene Woodling refused to take his position there until the bottle throwing stopped.

Threaten Forfeit

It finally took an appeal over the public address system by Brownie Manager Marty Marion and Umpire Bill Summers to stop the bottle throwing. Summers threatened to forfeit the game to the Yankees unless the exhibition stopped.

No players on either team were thrown out of the game for the incident. Courtney hurt his right wrist during the fight and Rizzuto suffered spike wounds on his right ankle and shin.

Yankee Manager Casey Stengel, who left the field with a bat in his hands, commented: "We can handle those tough guys."

Brownie pilot Marion observed: "Wasn't that the durnedest thing you ever saw."

There's been no love lost between the two clubs. Last season Courtney and Martin were involved in a fight in New York after a sliding and tagging incident.

During the excitement last night umpire John Stevens' shoulder popped out of place as he was trying to separate the players. Brownie trainer Bob Bauman snapped it back in place on the field.

After the game Courtney said, 'if those guys are going to charge into me they can expect the same thing from me."

Maureen Wears a Ring

National tennis queen Maureen Connolly, of San Diego, Cal., boards a plane at New York International Airport, Idlewild, April 26, for Europe to play in a series of tournaments. She wears a ring on the middle finger of her left hand. Nelson Fisher, San Diego Union sports writer, reported she received the ring from U. S. Navy man Norman Brink, right, Colorado-born member of the U. S. Equestrian team. Fisher said Maureen wasn't ready to make an announcement but admitted she'd probably lose a bet she made with him that she wouldn't marry before she was 25.

The club's entertainment committee, headed by Austin Boyd, chairman, will be in charge of Sunday's program.

The course facilities have been improved in several places. The first tee was re-seeded and will be used for the first time.

Alex Gerlak, the golf pro, expects members to be using the new putting green within a couple of weeks. By edict of the Greens Committee, putting practice is prohibited on all regular greens this season.

Esopus Little League Plans First Workout On Saturday, May 2

Balked for several days by wet grounds, the Town of Esopus Little League has scheduled its first tryouts for Saturday, May 2, at 10 a. m.

League director Robert Graves announced today that the Port Ewen loop would be fully sanctioned this season. The league setup is about the same as for the first year of 1952.

A grass infield is expected to be ready for the seasonal opener and other improvements on the field include the building of concrete dugouts and drainage facilities.

All candidates for the Esopus League are invited to attend Saturday's workout.

Maureen Wears a Ring

National tennis queen Maureen Connolly, of San Diego, Cal., boards a plane at New York International Airport, Idlewild, April 26, for Europe to play in a series of tournaments. She wears a ring on the middle finger of her left hand. Nelson Fisher, San Diego Union sports writer, reported she received the ring from U. S. Navy man Norman Brink, right, Colorado-born member of the U. S. Equestrian team. Fisher said Maureen wasn't ready to make an announcement but admitted she'd probably lose a bet she made with him that she wouldn't marry before she was 25.

Events Scheduled For KWBA Keglers

Members of the Kingston Woman's Bowling Association have been invited to attend a testimonial dinner for the two top ranking officials of the Woman's International Bowling Congress at Syracuse on Tuesday, May 26.

Mrs. Helene Mollenhauer, KWBA secretary, said the testimonial would honor Mrs. Jeannette Knepprath, president, and Mrs. Emma Phaler, secretary of the WIBC.

The event will take place at the Onondaga Hotel ballroom. Since reservations are limited all KWBA members who wish to attend are requested to contact Mrs. Mollenhauer by May 11.

The KWBA secretary has also announced receipt of entry blanks for the first annual women's 100 Percent Handicap Cancer Classic at the Middletown Recreation from May 15 to May 24.

The scratch figure is 900 per team, with a maximum of 250 pins handicap per game. First place in the handicap will be worth $150 and a trophy, with $75 and a trophy going to the net winner.

Entry blanks may be obtained from the KWBA secretary.

WORM RIG FOR HIGH, ROILY WATER

USE MONOFILAMENT NYLON IN MAKING THIS RIG. USE DIPSEY TO SINK WORM DEEP WHERE FISH HUG THE BOTTOM. IF THE SINKER SNAGS EASILY IN ROCKS, TIE SINKER TO A WEAKER DROPPER AND PUT WORM WHERE THE SINKER WAS. THUS, ONLY THE SINKER IS LOST WHEN SNAGED, SAVING BAIT AND HOOKS. IF THE WATER IS VERY MUDDY, TIE A SMALL INDIANA SPINNER 6" ABOVE THE WORM AS AN ATTRACTOR.

Win for Spartans

East Lansing, Mich. (AP)—A Michigan State freshman and a faculty member each won 1953 National AAU wrestling championships. Frosh Jimmy Sinadinos won the 136-pound crown. Physical education instructor Dale Thomas won his fourth NAAU title in the 191 pound class.

Golfer Gets Birdie

Dallas (AP)—Al Planer, visiting golfer from East Orange, N. J., claimed a birdie and a par-4 on the same hole at a golf course here. Planer's ball collided with a sparrow in flight, killing the bird instantly. The ball dropped onto the fairway, and Planer proceeded to par the hole.

mats expect other satellites also to up their budgets for guns, planes and troops soon.

An estimated 14 million of East Europe's 80 million men, women and children are either under arms or receiving semi-military training in schools and factories. Since April 1, training programs have been going ahead at a more rapid pace than ever before.

In each satellite land, workers are being urged to greater production for the "defense of the homeland."

War Industries Develop

Vast sums of national budgets, diplomats believe, are being channeled from non-essential expenditures to the development of war industries.

The armament and training of "security forces"—which supplement by millions the 1,125,000 men in the satellite armed forces—is uninterrupted.

A week ago Czech Finance Minister Jaroslav Kabes presented a 1953 budget doubling last year's expenditures for defense and internal security.

In the debate which preceded approval of the budget on April 23, Deputy O. Burda disclosed the nation's military plans. He said:

"Now that the reorganization of our army is essentially completed, the way is open for a further growth of our military power. Our civilian defense must be built up even more with the support and active participation of the masses.

Will Supply Everything

"Our people in future will supply our army with everything it needs."

To back this up, Kabes announced a 17 per cent increase in capital investment. Western diplomats believe this will be used mainly to develop new war industries in Slovakia.

On Monday, the Polish Parliament acted similarly. It approved the spending of 10 and a half billion zlotys (about 2¾ billion dollars) for defense and security. That is 60 per cent more than last year.

Diplomats believe that the budgets of all satellite lands also contain hidden allocations for defense projects.

The expenditures for education, for example, are believed to contain funds for the military training of students, which they begin at the age of six. In high school boys and girls get instruction in guerilla warfare, rifle shooting, signals and army discipline.

Hungarian Report

On April 12, the Hungarian Communist party's newspaper Szabad Nep said "Everything possible is being done to develop further our peoples army, to increase its equipment and knowledge." On April 17 the same paper reported, "daily, more and more young people are seeking commissions in the army."

Two days later, the Budapest youth paper Szabad Ifjusag declared, "The peoples army, the apple of our eye has been further strengthened."

Little more than a week ago, Romanian Communist newspapers told the nation's women that "there is a growing danger of war."

One western diplomat stationed behind the Iron Curtain said in Vienna a few days ago:

"Maybe the rest of the world is taking the Russian peace offensive seriously, but I don't believe it means a thing to the leaders of the satellite nations. They are going ahead as if nothing had happened."

Laotian Invaders

Vietminh divisions were reported on Laotian soil.

The pride of Red Commander Gen. Vo Nguyen Giap—the 304 Division—was pressing along colonial route seven toward Luangprabang. The division had been pulled out of the area around Vinh, near the coast of Annam 160 miles south of Hanoi. It headed west immediately after the Vietminh first attacked northern Laos at the new-evacuated post of Samneua.

Some parts of the 304, however were believed around the strongly fortified French-Laotian position on the Plaine des Jarres, in the heart of Laos, 70 miles southeast of Luangprabang. These troops continued to harass the by-passed French and Laotians with mortar fire but still refrained from the infantry attack the French hoped for there.

Murray Loses His License; Gardner Must Serve Time

Walter F. Murray, Jr., 17, of 296 Third avenue, who was booked on five charges after a police chase through uptown streets Monday, lost his right to drive a car and was fined $45 when he appeared before City Judge Raymond J. Mino today.

Clinton Gardner, 40, who police said, has no permanent address, caught up with a sentence which he avoided nearly a year ago by escaping police custody, when he appeared before Judge Mino today.

The judge revoked young Murray's operator's license and confiscated his registration and plate. He was fined $20 on the charge that he illegally operated a car after dark on a junior operator's license, $10 for driving with an incorrectly registered car and $5 each for passing two stop signs and a red light.

Eluded Police

Police charged that Murray and two girls with him abandoned the car on Grand View avenue and "took to the woods" as a patrol car pursued them through uptown streets. Murray was booked Tuesday on the charges after he was questioned by Lt. William Leonard at police headquarters.

A warrant was executed April 20 to hold Gardner as an escaped prisoner when he was brought to the city hall for an appearance on a public intoxication charge for which he was arrested April 18.

It was charged that Gardner escaped from the custody of the police in May, 1952 after he had been sentenced to serve 30 days in the county jail.

Must Buy Glasses

In sentencing Gardner a year ago, Judge Mino ordered that he pay $15 for the repair of the glasses of Detective Frank Sammons, who then was a patrolman. Gardner, it was charged, broke the glasses when he was arrested.

The judge said this part of the sentence still held, and after crediting him with 12 days already served, he imposed a sentence of 18 days to be served.

Attorney Arthur A. Davis, Jr., appeared for Gardner, and moved dismissal of the information charging Gardner with escaping custody on the grounds that it failed to state a crime. Attorney Abram Molyneaux, who represented the district attorney's office, consented to the dismissal, and the judge granted it.

Gets 93 Days

Helen M. Chambers of Poughkeepsie was sentenced to 93 days in the county jail today on her plea of guilty to petit larceny. The period of sentence was the number of days she has been in jail. Mrs. Chambers was indicted for robbery, first degree, for the alleged taking of more than $100 from LeRoy Clifford, 85 Cedar street, Kingston, and leaving him unconscious along a back road near Highland last September. Also involved in the deal was James E. Raymo, Jr., Poughkeepsie, and Roy Weeks also of Dutchess county. Raymo had previously entered a plea of guilty to petit larceny and been sentenced.

Hospital Plane

patients were in good shape but a little tired.

Most of them waved happily and smiled as they stepped from the hospital plane into a throng of beautiful nurses, thinly clad hula dancers and official greeters.

Two air force wives draped colorful flower leis around the neck of each man and gave them a big hug.

The eight litter patients were lowered from the belly of the big plane. Some others leaned on husky medics as they limped down the gangway.

First man off the plane was Cpl. Donald K. Legay of Leominister, Mass.

As each left the plane he was welcomed by an air force officer who called his name over a public address system. A crowd of 300 or more persons, most of them military dependents, cheered loudly and grass-skirted hula girls swayed to rhythms of an air force band.

Some patients blushed and shuffled in embarrassment as they saw the hula dancers. They stood at the foot of the gangway for a few moments while some 50 photographers took pictures. Then they were whisked away for medical checkups and rest.

There has been no announcement in Tokyo as to when a second plane will head eastward with another group of home-bound men.

House Unit Opens

ings included: Roy Frank, former assistant solicitor for the Post Office Department, who investigated the case; Eugene W. Davis, U. S. attorney in Topeka, who obtained two indictments against Crummer; Alexander J. Brown Jr., Securities and Exchange Commission investigator who worked on the case.

Asked by reporters if Clark would be called for testimony, Keating replied: "It is too early to say."

Previously, the chairman had said he thought Clark would want to testify after the hearings started.

Red Nations Gird

mats expect other satellites also to up their budgets for guns, planes and troops soon.

An estimated 14 million of East Europe's 80 million men, women and children are either under arms or receiving semi-military training in schools and factories. Since April 1, training programs have been going ahead at a more rapid pace than ever before.

In each satellite land, workers are being urged to greater production for the "defense of the homeland."

War Industries Develop

Vast sums of national budgets, diplomats believe, are being channeled from non-essential expenditures to the development of war industries.

The armament and training of "security forces"—which supplement by millions the 1,125,000 men in the satellite armed forces—is uninterrupted.

A week ago Czech Finance Minister Jaroslav Kabes presented a 1953 budget doubling last year's expenditures for defense and internal security.

In the debate which preceded approval of the budget on April 23, Deputy O. Burda disclosed the nation's military plans. He said:

"Now that the reorganization of our army is essentially completed, the way is open for a further growth of our military power. Our civilian defense must be built up even more with the support and active participation of the masses.

Will Supply Everything

"Our people in future will supply our army with everything it needs."

To back this up, Kabes announced a 17 per cent increase in capital investment. Western diplomats believe this will be used mainly to develop new war industries in Slovakia.

On Monday, the Polish Parliament acted similarly. It approved the spending of 10 and a half billion zlotys (about 2¾ billion dollars) for defense and security. That is 60 per cent more than last year.

Diplomats believe that the budgets of all satellite lands also contain hidden allocations for defense projects.

The expenditures for education, for example, are believed to contain funds for the military training of students, which they begin at the age of six. In high school boys and girls get instruction in guerilla warfare, rifle shooting, signals and army discipline.

Hungarian Report

On April 12, the Hungarian Communist party's newspaper Szabad Nep said "Everything possible is being done to develop further our peoples army, to increase its equipment and knowledge." On April 17 the same paper reported, "daily, more and more young people are seeking commissions in the army."

Two days later, the Budapest youth paper Szabad Ifjusag declared, "The peoples army, the apple of our eye has been further strengthened."

Little more than a week ago, Romanian Communist newspapers told the nation's women that "there is a growing danger of war."

One western diplomat stationed behind the Iron Curtain said in Vienna a few days ago:

"Maybe the rest of the world is taking the Russian peace offensive seriously, but I don't believe it means a thing to the leaders of the satellite nations. They are going ahead as if nothing had happened."

Laotian Invaders

Vietminh divisions were reported on Laotian soil.

The pride of Red Commander Gen. Vo Nguyen Giap—the 304 Division—was pressing along colonial route seven toward Luangprabang. The division had been pulled out of the area around Vinh, near the coast of Annam 160 miles south of Hanoi. It headed west immediately after the Vietminh first attacked northern Laos at the new-evacuated post of Samneua.

Some parts of the 304, however were believed around the strongly fortified French-Laotian position on the Plaine des Jarres, in the heart of Laos, 70 miles southeast of Luangprabang. These troops continued to harass the by-passed French and Laotians with mortar fire but still refrained from the infantry attack the French hoped for there.

Murray Loses His License; Gardner Must Serve Time

Walter F. Murray, Jr., 17, of 296 Third avenue, who was booked on five charges after a police chase through uptown streets Monday, lost his right to drive a car and was fined $45 when he appeared before City Judge Raymond J. Mino today.

Clinton Gardner, 40, who police said, has no permanent address, caught up with a sentence which he avoided nearly a year ago by escaping police custody, when he appeared before Judge Mino today.

The judge revoked young Murray's operator's license and confiscated his registration and plate. He was fined $20 on the charge that he illegally operated a car after dark on a junior operator's license, $10 for driving with an incorrectly registered car and $5 each for passing two stop signs and a red light.

Eluded Police

Police charged that Murray and two girls with him abandoned the car on Grand View avenue and "took to the woods" as a patrol car pursued them through uptown streets. Murray was booked Tuesday on the charges after he was questioned by Lt. William Leonard at police headquarters.

A warrant was executed April 20 to hold Gardner as an escaped prisoner when he was brought to the city hall for an appearance on a public intoxication charge for which he was arrested April 18.

It was charged that Gardner escaped from the custody of the police in May, 1952 after he had been sentenced to serve 30 days in the county jail.

Must Buy Glasses

In sentencing Gardner a year ago, Judge Mino ordered that he pay $15 for the repair of the glasses of Detective Frank Sammons, who then was a patrolman. Gardner, it was charged, broke the glasses when he was arrested.

The judge said this part of the sentence still held, and after crediting him with 12 days already served, he imposed a sentence of 18 days to be served.

Attorney Arthur A. Davis, Jr., appeared for Gardner, and moved dismissal of the information charging Gardner with escaping custody on the grounds that it failed to state a crime. Attorney Abram Molyneaux, who represented the district attorney's office, consented to the dismissal, and the judge granted it.

Gets 93 Days

Helen M. Chambers of Poughkeepsie was sentenced to 93 days in the county jail today on her plea of guilty to petit larceny. The period of sentence was the number of days she has been in jail. Mrs. Chambers was indicted for robbery, first degree, for the alleged taking of more than $100 from LeRoy Clifford, 85 Cedar street, Kingston, and leaving him unconscious along a back road near Highland last September. Also involved in the deal was James E. Raymo, Jr., Poughkeepsie, and Roy Weeks also of Dutchess county. Raymo had previously entered a plea of guilty to petit larceny and been sentenced.

Hospital Plane

patients were in good shape but a little tired.

Most of them waved happily and smiled as they stepped from the hospital plane into a throng of beautiful nurses, thinly clad hula dancers and official greeters.

Two air force wives draped colorful flower leis around the neck of each man and gave them a big hug.

The eight litter patients were lowered from the belly of the big plane. Some others leaned on husky medics as they limped down the gangway.

First man off the plane was Cpl. Donald K. Legay of Leominister, Mass.

As each left the plane he was welcomed by an air force officer who called his name over a public address system. A crowd of 300 or more persons, most of them military dependents, cheered loudly and grass-skirted hula girls swayed to rhythms of an air force band.

Some patients blushed and shuffled in embarrassment as they saw the hula dancers. They stood at the foot of the gangway for a few moments while some 50 photographers took pictures. Then they were whisked away for medical checkups and rest.

There has been no announcement in Tokyo as to when a second plane will head eastward with another group of home-bound men.

House Unit Opens

ings included: Roy Frank, former assistant solicitor for the Post Office Department, who investigated the case; Eugene W. Davis, U. S. attorney in Topeka, who obtained two indictments against Crummer; Alexander J. Brown Jr., Securities and Exchange Commission investigator who worked on the case.

Asked by reporters if Clark would be called for testimony, Keating replied: "It is too early to say."

Previously, the chairman had said he thought Clark would want to testify after the hearings started.

Storms Again Hit Central Regions

(By The Associated Press)

Stormy weather whipped across wide areas of the central part of the country again today in the wake of yesterday's tornadoes and thunderstorms which resulted in the death of five persons and injury to several others.

Texas was the hardest hit by the blustery spring storms. Five persons were killed at Kilgore when lightning exploded an oil storage tank, spreading flaming oil over a city block of 15 homes.

Tornadoes struck at two small Texas communities, at Helotes near San Antonio and Smithville, in the central part of the state. Eight to 10 persons were reported injured at Helotes and three at Smithville. Several houses were damaged.

Strong Winds Continue

Rain and strong winds continued from the Dakotas to the gulf. Rain also fell along the eastern slopes of the Rockies from the Canadian border to southern Wyoming. Showers and thundershowers were general across northern Nebraska eastward to the Great Lakes region, in the southern plains and the western gulf states.

Northeast storm warnings were posted on Lake Superior and southeast warnings on Lake Michigan.

Blowing dust was reported from west Texas with gusts up to 60 to 65 miles an hour.

Heavy rainfalls were reported in parts of Texas, Louisiana and Arkansas. Shreveport, La., was drenched with a fall of 5.5 inches in six hours. The fall at Ft. Worth, Tex., measured nearly three inches.

Temperatures generally were around normal over most of the country except in the central plains. Readings were as much as 20 degrees above seasonal levels in sections of Kansas and Oklahoma. Fair weather appeared in prospect for most of the eastern seaboard, the southeast and far southwest.

2 Area Physicians Going to Buffalo

Two Ulster county physicians Dr. Eugene F. Galvin of Rosendale and Dr. Edward F. Shea of Kingston, will represent the Ulster County Medical Society in the House of Delegates of the Medical Society of the State of New York during its 147th annual convention to be held at the Hotel Statler in Buffalo, May 4 to 8.

The House of Delegates is the policy making body of the Medical Society of the State of New York and consists of delegates from 61 county medical societies representing a membership of more than 23,000 physicians within the state. The house will be called to order on Monday, May 4 at 10 a. m. by its speaker Dr. Frederic W. Holcomb of Kingston and will meet Monday morning, all day Tuesday, and Wednesday morning.

The final session of the house will be devoted to the election of officers, trustees and delegates to the American Medical Association. Dr. Andrew A. Eggston of Mount Vernon is scheduled to succeed Dr. Edward T. Wentworth of Rochester as president of the State Medical Society.

Rattles and squeaks in an automobile indicate loose parts, which, if unattended, will wear away rapidly.

Police Say Six More Boys Admit Looting

Detectives Clarence Brophy and Frank Sammons said today they have questioned six boys in addition to the three picked up earlier this week and charged with stealing groceries from the Thompson warehouse, and all admitted their part in the thefts.

The boys, ranging in age from 13 to 15 years old, are charged with taking more than $200 worth of groceries which they hid in a garage and a bedroom in a home of one of the boys. Some, they said, they used on "camping trips." They are to be dealt with in children's court.

The detectives said today they are also investigating the breaking of seven windows in School No. 5. Some were broken with stones and others with shot from an air rifle.

Two Zone Hearings Scheduled Tonight

Public hearings are scheduled tonight on two applications for zoning changes.

The first to be held in the Common Council chamber, city hall, at 7 p. m., is on the application of Frank Fiore for a business designation on a property at Gill and Catherine streets.

The second at 7:30 p. m., is on the application of Alfred Mones for a business zone designation on the former Cummings property at Lucas and Washington avenues.

Alderman Abram Relyea, chairman of the Common Council's laws and rules committee will preside.

Plans for Sites

Fiore said he plans to erect a building to be used for business purposes on the downtown property, and a source of information on the other property said it is planned to sell it for business purposes. Part of the uptown property contains a corner store which was used in the past for several different businesses.

Fiore said he has no definite plans at present as to the type of business to be housed on his property.

Child Dies of Poison

New York, April 29 (AP)—Little Betty Acevedo, 2½, died yesterday of poison administered by her mother. The mother and two other Acevedo children died last Thursday. Mrs. Hilda Acevedo, 21, told police before she died she fed poison soup to Milton, 16 months; Dennis, 2½ months; and Betty and herself because she was despondent over financial matters.

Storms Again Hit Central Regions

(By The Associated Press)

Stormy weather whipped across wide areas of the central part of the country again today in the wake of yesterday's tornadoes and thunderstorms which resulted in the death of five persons and injury to several others.

Texas was the hardest hit by the blustery spring storms. Five persons were killed at Kilgore when lightning exploded an oil storage tank, spreading flaming oil over a city block of 15 homes.

Tornadoes struck at two small Texas communities, at Helotes near San Antonio and Smithville, in the central part of the state. Eight to 10 persons were reported injured at Helotes and three at Smithville. Several houses were damaged.

Strong Winds Continue

Rain and strong winds continued from the Dakotas to the gulf. Rain also fell along the eastern slopes of the Rockies from the Canadian border to southern Wyoming. Showers and thundershowers were general across northern Nebraska eastward to the Great Lakes region, in the southern plains and the western gulf states.

Northeast storm warnings were posted on Lake Superior and southeast warnings on Lake Michigan.

Blowing dust was reported from west Texas with gusts up to 60 to 65 miles an hour.

Heavy rainfalls were reported in parts of Texas, Louisiana and Arkansas. Shreveport, La., was drenched with a fall of 5.5 inches in six hours. The fall at Ft. Worth, Tex., measured nearly three inches.

Temperatures generally were around normal over most of the country except in the central plains. Readings were as much as 20 degrees above seasonal levels in sections of Kansas and Oklahoma. Fair weather appeared in prospect for most of the eastern seaboard, the southeast and far southwest.

Shea of Kingston, will represent the Ulster County Medical Society in the House of Delegates of the Medical Society of the State of New York during its 147th annual convention to be held at the Hotel Statler in Buffalo, May 4 to 8.

The House of Delegates is the policy making body of the Medical Society of the State of New York and consists of delegates from 61 county medical societies representing a membership of more than 23,000 physicians within the state. The house will be called to order on Monday, May 4 at 10 a. m. by its speaker Dr. Frederic W. Holcomb of Kingston and will meet Monday morning, all day Tuesday, and Wednesday morning.

The final session of the house will be devoted to the election of officers, trustees and delegates to the American Medical Association. Dr. Andrew A. Eggston of Mount Vernon is scheduled to succeed Dr. Edward T. Wentworth of Rochester as president of the State Medical Society.
